Florida Group Still Planning Everglades Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over a proposed jet airport near the Florida Everglades appears far from over, despite reports to the contrary.

Richard H. Judy, deputy director of the Dade County Port Authority, says his group has no intention of relocating the giant jetport which conservationists fear would destroy the swamp and wildlife of Everglades National Park.

And a meeting scheduled for Wednesday here between Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel and Transportation Secretary John Volpe seems more likely to produce battle strategy than immediate victory.

Reports published last week quoted sources in Kirk's office as saying President Nixon had decided against the proposed jetport site nine miles north of the Everglades.

But any site decision must in turn be made by the planning authority which is planning the airport and owns the proposed 38-square-mile site 45 miles west of Miami.

In a telephone interview, Judy said the authority has not considered or even agreed to consider a new site.

Nor has there been any federal or state pressure, so far, to do so—"none whatsoever," said Judy.

"We are going to move ahead to develop the site as a training facility and continue our environmental studies toward developing it into an airport site," he said.

"But actually we have not yet made the decision to go commercial. Our environmental program will take two or three years and our decision process would come in 1972 or 1973."

Hickel confirmed there was no agreement so far with the county on a new jetport site.

"At this point we're just going to look at the options we have, and after the meeting we're going to come up with some recommendations," Hickel said.

Nixon Back In Capital; Issues Mount

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is back in Washington where the list of problems, issues and priorities did not diminish during his month-long California working vacation.

The programs the President has offered to the Congress remain stalled and could benefit from his personal quarterbacking. His welfare, post office and crime packages have yet to go before committee.

While administration men have hinted at progress in Vietnam the President's next public decision may very well concern the dimensions of the next troop withdrawal from the war zone.

There will be presidential interest in Senate action on his appointment to the Supreme Court, Clement Haynsworth, and selection of a permanent successor to the late Everett L. Dirksen as GOP minority leader in the Senate. Nixon is reported to favor a more conservative choice than Senate GOP Whip Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania who is temporarily serving in the post.

The President returned to the capital Monday night after stops for dedication ceremonies of a new dam on the Rio Grande near Del Rio, Tex., and a first-hand look at the hurricane-ravaged Gulf Coast.

Nixon compared the damage of hurricane Camille to the bombed out towns of WWII Europe. "As I flew over the damage of Mississippi I could see that the facts given me could not adequately state the damage," Nixon told a crowd at Gulfport.

AMBASSADOR RELEASED — U.S. Ambassador to Brazil C. Burke Elbrick embraces his wife Elvira after his release by abductors in Rio de Janeiro. Elbrick was released four hours after 15 Brazilian political prisoners arrived in Mexico City as part of a ransom agreement.

Brazilians Seen Delighted With Regime's Discomfiture

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazilians generally were concerned for the safety of U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick during the three days he was kidnapped by terrorists, but many were delighted to see Brazil's military dictatorship humiliated.

Even the nonpolitical majority, usually interested mostly in soccer and the beaches, were glad to see a victory over the military clique that shows no sign of relaxing its hold on power.

"Look at those 20,000 soldiers, and they can't do anything about a small group of terrorists," one Brazilian said as he watched the military parade for Independence Day Sunday.

Another commented: "All the massive student demonstrations of last year didn't achieve nearly as much as the kidnapping."

As their price for Elbrick's release, the kidnapers forced the government to give 15 political prisoners safe conduct to Mexico and to let the censored press and government broadcasting facilities publish a manifesto blasting the regime as a dictatorship. Supporters of the government were shocked; its critics were jubilant.

But some Brazilians feared that the junta would take even tougher measures against its opponents. Others were afraid that the success of the kidnapping would result in an increase in terrorism.

The three-man junta that took over from ailing President Arthur da Costa de Silva announced Monday that it was preparing new "prevention and repression methods" against terrorism. It issued a decree providing for banishment of persons considered "noxious and dangerous" to national security.

Unconfirmed reports said police began rounding up suspects as soon as the ambassador was released Sunday and that 17 persons had been arrested.

Marines were guarding a house in a wealthy residential area where police said the kidnapers took the ambassador after forcing him out of his limousine last Thursday. Some of the guards said a station wagon believed to have been used in the kidnapping was parked in the garage at the house.

Slime Hits Lake Erie Island Shore

KELLEYS ISLAND, Ohio (AP) — Mounds of gelatin-like slime washing ashore on this Lake Erie island for three days is affecting the island water supply and causing serious concern for its 300 residents.

Health officials aren't sure what causes it but are loading the public water supply with chlorine as a precaution. A state health department engineer says there apparently is no immediate health danger from the slime.

Residents of this resort island 10 miles north of Sandusky, Ohio, are asked to restrict water consumption to "only the most necessary uses" by Mayor Louis Starkweather.

The island is a popular summer swimming and fishing resort but the tourist business ends with Labor Day.

"We are going on a theory it is an algae growth of some sort," said Erie County Health Commissioner Dr. William Boswell, of the slime. "I have never seen anything like it."

He said a check of health department records show a similar situation occurred along the island's beaches in 1963. It was attributed to algae.

The mounds of green foam which have been building up since Saturday had receded early today but beaches were left stained a bright blue.

Governor To Visit Lebanon Thursday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes will fly to Lebanon Thursday to open that city's second annual honey festival.

The three-day festival will be in honor of the 10 million pounds of honey produced in Ohio annually.

State Board Adopts Rules On Salaries

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education, moving to implement recent legislation, has adopted rules for supplementing the salaries of certain lay teachers in parochial schools who teach secular subjects.

It could mean up to $3,000 in annual salary supplements but in no case would it boost salaries above those of public school teachers with comparable training or experience.

The board action Monday makes use of the $35 million appropriated in the recently adopted education budget for the next two years. The money is earmarked to supplement salaries of lay teachers of non-religious courses in parochial schools and for books and other material, services and programs.

The board of education rules allows an annual salary supplement per teacher of up to $600 for each daily hour of secular service with a limit of five daily hours per year.

The board also adopted an exemption from teachers and classroom number rules for 18 parochial schools, one public school in Akron and a private school at Fairborn.

The exemptions are for 14 schools operated by the Seventh-Day Adventists, two operated by the Lutheran Church and two operated by Toledo Diocesan schools.

See Nigerian Cease-Fire

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — An air of expectancy prevailed at the African summit meeting today amid mounting reports that a cease-fire in the Nigerian-Biafran war would be announced today or Wednesday.

Conference sources said a cease-fire would be ordered so African heads of state could go to Biafra to meet with its leader, Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, in an effort to start peace talks.

The delegation will probably include President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, a prime mover for a cease-fire and the first president to extend diplomatic recognition to Biafra.

Nyerere and Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, the head of the Nigerian government, met Monday for the first time since the war started 28 months ago and had long private talks.

Informal sources denied earlier unconfirmed reports that a cease-fire would clear the way for Gowon and Ojukwu to meet. Gowon has always insisted that Ojukwu must first renounce Biafra's secession from Nigeria.

Williams Still Can't Find Way To U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Airline companies said today they would not fly American black militant Robert Williams to the United States with or without a security escort.

A spokesman for Trans World Airlines, which originally sold Williams a ticket to Detroit but is acting with other airlines in refusing to carry him—declined to give specific reasons for barring Williams.

Wanted in North Carolina on charges of kidnapping a white couple, Williams fled the United States eight years ago to live in exile in Cuba, Communist China and East Africa.

Known as the leader of a black separatist movement in the United States called "Republic of New Africa," Williams was flying back to Detroit from Africa. He was arrested after he arrived here last Friday night and airline companies refused to take him the rest of the way.

Official sources disclosed that the British police deportation squad offered to put two escorts aboard a plane with Williams for the flight across the Atlantic, but the offer was refused.

Airline officials said they were refusing to transport him under any circumstances. Britain's Home Office today was still trying to find a way to get the unwanted man out of the country.

"He has been to Cuba during the past eight years and we don't know who his friends are," said an airline source. "We can't afford to run the risk of a skyjacking."

Williams was still in a cell in London's Pentonville Prison. The 44-year-old Negro has reportedly gone on hunger strike to protest his detention.

U.S. Continues Low Level Of Viet Activity

SAIGON (AP) — American forces probably will continue to curtail their offensive operations if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese maintain their present low level of activity after the truce for the funeral of North Vietnamese President Hu Chi Minh ends Thursday, U.S. officials said today.

"We want to keep the negotiating door open," said one ranking officer. "We're not looking for fights. We're just trying to provide an atmosphere for pacification and security, and if the other side decides to keep things secure, we couldn't be happier."

Only light action was reported across South Vietnam today in the second day of the truce. But U.S. officials considered it most unlikely that the enemy would continue the cease fire long after the announced expiration time.

The U.S. Command said that since the Viet Cong cease-fire began at 1 a.m. Monday, the enemy had made 10 significant attacks on American forces. U.S. casualties in these actions were put at four killed and 29 wounded, while two enemy were known dead.

South Vietnamese headquarters said that between 1 a.m. Monday and 6 a.m. Tuesday, there were 26 "enemy-initiated incidents aimed at South Vietnamese units and civilians." It said 34 South Vietnamese had been killed in these actions and 60 wounded.

The Saigon government said its air force had flown 60 sorties in the past 24 hours, while its ground troops conducted 57 operations of battalion size or larger. A spokesman said all of

Architect's Recommendation On Jail Bids Under Study

The architectural firm for the remodeling of the Pickaway County Jail, Prindle and Patrick Inc., Monday made its recommendation to County Commissioners Charles Morris, Wayne Hines and Dick T. Tootle.

The firm recommended the commissioners accept the apparent low bid of Roanoke Iron and Bridge for the detention contract and the apparent low bid of Divine Construction for the combined general, electrical and plumbing contracts.

The bid for the detention contract was $19,035 and for the combined contracts, $23,399. The two bids total $42,434 to make the second floor of the jail a maximum security area.

Commissioners did not act on the recommendation Monday.

MORRIS told Allen L. Patrick that they would study the recommendation before reaching a decision.

Patrick recommended that all work be coordinated with the detention equipment and be completed at the same time.

He pointed out there will be a security problem while construction is in progress and that some prisoners will have to be housed in other jails.

Morris asked if the plumbing contract could be completed at a later date.

Patrick said that it would be possible, but that it would cost about three times as much money, due in part to spiraling construction costs and in part to the fact that a security problem would again be created and other jail space would have to be rented for the prisoners.

He also explained the commissioners would have to negotiate with the contractor before delaying the plumbing contract.

PATRICK said that federal prison inspector John McGinnis had recommended that all work be completed at the same time.

According to Morris, there is currently enough money available to complete the contract, but commissioners had made other commitments

Senators Back Pentagon's Bid To Continue With C5A

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators backing the Pentagon's request to go ahead with the controversial C5A transport say more of the supercargo planes could enable a cutback in U.S. forces overseas.

Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said today in prepared speeches that by using the huge transports to boost the nation's airlift capability, the number of American troops abroad might be trimmed.

The arguments came as the Senate headed toward an expected afternoon vote on Sen. William Proxmire's effort to hold up authority for 23 more C5As pending a General Accounting Office study of the need for the planes.

Proxmire said the review also should delve into the heavily criticized contract under which initial production losses by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. will be made up by the government.

Young, senior GOP member of the Appropriations Committee and its defense subcommittee, said he favors a sharp reduction in the U.S. Army in Europe.

"With the capability we will have through the C5A," he said, "we could easily withdraw two or three divisions from Germany." This would be nearly half the U.S. ground force there.

Young said most of the increased cost in the C5A—nearly $2 billion since the contract was signed in 1965—is due to inflation, frequent changes in production schedules and improvement "which gives us a better weapons system and should not be considered as a cost increase in the usual sense."

He charged the Proxmire amendment "would cause a break in the production of the C5A aircraft which could lead to tremendous further increases in its cost."

Proxmire has contended that since the 58-plane first run won't be completed until mid-1971, his amendment would not cause any delay.

Boomerang-Shaped Wing May Boost Jetliner Speed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A new boomerang-shaped wing may enable jetliners of the mid-1970s to fly 100 miles an hour faster than their present cruising speed.

Tests on the wing are scheduled to start at this desert research center next year.

A $1.8 million contract announced by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Monday calls for fitting a Navy F8A jet with the radically different wing, expected to boost cruising speed to just under the speed of sound—660 m.p.h. at 45,000 feet—without increasing fuel consumption.

A NASA spokesman said the modified F8A should be ready to begin a two-year flight-test program late in 1970 and that passenger liners with the new wing could be in service by 1974.

The back-swept wing, which looks like a boomerang fixed to the top of an ordinary fuselage, is flat on the top side and curved on the bottom—just the opposite of the wings on today's airliners.

The new shape was engineered to reduce drag and buffeting and thus increase efficiency, which translates into greater range, payload and speed.

The spokesman estimated the gain in efficiency at about 25 per cent. This would increase speed more than 100 m.p.h. beyond the 530 m.p.h. limit of most current airliners. He said some airlines might choose to increase payload rather than speed, and thus cut fares.

The odd shape has the effect of moving farther to the rear of the plane the "supercritical" point where shock waves develop in the stream of air flowing around it.

These shock waves drag at the plane's surfaces and can cause it to shake violently as it approaches the speed of sound. Moving this point of turbulence to the rear makes the aircraft easier to handle and more efficient.

The so-called "supercritical wing" was developed in wind tunnel studies at NASA's Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va., over the past four years by Dr. Richard T. Whitcomb. He designed the wasp-waist fuselage of many of today's supersonic military aircraft, including the F102 and F104 fighters and the B58 bomber.

Said Largest Since 1967 Mideast War

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli aircraft and armored units thrust into Egypt across the Gulf of Suez today in a raid on Egyptian army positions, the Israeli army announced.

It was the biggest action reported on the Egyptian-Israeli front since the 1967 Middle East war.

The 10-hour operation ranged over a 30-mile stretch of the Egyptian shore, a military spokesman reported.

One Israeli plane was lost and the pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Suez, he said.

The attack began at 2 a.m. and lasted until noon, the spokesman continued.

The Israelis used naval vessels to take their armor across the 25-mile-wide gulf.

He listed Israeli casualties as one soldier wounded and claimed dozens of Egyptian soldiers were killed or wounded and "heavy damage caused" to Egyptian equipment.

The planes bombed and strafed artillery batteries and units of the Soviet-built surface to air—SAM—missiles, he said.

The action ranged between El Hasayer and Ras Za Farana, 60 miles south of the port of Suez at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

The raid came on the heels of a sea battle in the same general area Monday. In that engagement, Israel claimed to have sunk two Egyptian torpedo boats. Cairo said one Egyptian boat was hit but not sunk and asserted the Egyptians sank an Israeli vessel.

In the latest raid, the Israelis claimed to have destroyed army bases and encampments, vehicles, radar stations and buildings.

The Egyptians put up no air or sea resistance, the spokesman said. The raid came after what the spokesman called continued and initiated Egyptian aggression.

This was the biggest attack by Israel on any Arab power since the raid into Jordan in March 1968, when Israeli forces hit an Arab command base at Karameh. This day-long action, also supported by tanks and planes, killed more than 120 guerrillas, the Israelis claimed then.

The architectural firm for the remodeling of the Pickaway County Jail, Prindle and Patrick Inc., Monday made its recommendation to County Commissioners Charles Morris, Wayne Hines and Dick T. Tootle.

The firm recommended the commissioners accept the apparent low bid of Roanoke Iron and Bridge for the detention contract and the apparent low bid of Divine Construction for the combined general, electrical and plumbing contracts.

The bid for the detention contract was $19,035 and for the combined contracts, $23,399. The two bids total $42,434 to make the second floor of the jail a maximum security area.

Commissioners did not act on the recommendation Monday.

MORRIS told Allen L. Patrick that they would study the recommendation before reaching a decision.

Patrick recommended that all work be coordinated with the detention equipment and be completed at the same time.

He pointed out there will be a security problem while construction is in progress and that some prisoners will have to be housed in other jails.

Morris asked if the plumbing contract could be completed at a later date.

Patrick said that it would be possible, but that it would cost about three times as much money, due in part to spiraling construction costs and in part to the fact that a security problem would again be created and other jail space would have to be rented for the prisoners.

He also explained the commissioners would have to negotiate with the contractor before delaying the planning contract.

PATRICK said that federal prison inspector John McGinnis had recommended that all work be completed at the same time.

According to Morris, there is currently enough money available to complete the contract, but commissioners had made other commitments.

Said Largest Since 1967 Mideast War

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli aircraft and armored units thrust into Egypt across the Gulf of Suez today in a raid on Egyptian army positions, the Israeli army announced.

It was the biggest action reported on the Egyptian-Israeli front since the 1967 Middle East war.

The 10-hour operation ranged over a 30-mile stretch of the Egyptian shore a military spokesman reported.

One Israeli plane was lost and the pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Suez, he said.

The attack began at 2 a.m., and lasted until noon, the spokesman continued.

The Israelis used naval vessels to take their armor across the 25-mile-wide gulf.

He listed Israeli casualties as one soldier wounded and claimed dozens of Egyptian soldiers were killed or wounded and “heavy damage caused” to Egyptian equipment.

The planes bombed and strafed artillery batteries and units of the Soviet-built surface to air—SAM—missiles, he said.

The action raged between El Hasayer and Ras Za Farana, 60 miles south of the port of Suez at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

The raid came on the heels of a sea battle in the same general area Monday. In that engagement, Israel claimed to have sunk two Egyptian torpedo boats. Cairo said one Egyptian boat was hit but not sunk and asserted the Egyptians sank an Israeli vessel.

In the latest raid, the Israelis claimed to have destroyed army bases and encampments, vehicles, radar stations and buildings.

The Egyptians put up no air or sea resistance, the spokesman said. The raid came after what the spokesman called continued and initiated Egyptian aggression.

This was the biggest attack by Israel on any Arab power since the raid into Jordan in March 1968, when Israeli forces hit an Arab commando base at Karameh. This day-long action, also supported by tanks and planes, killed more than 129 guerrillas, the Israelis claimed then.

THE NEED for donors Thursday when the Red Cross Bloodmobile starts collecting at 11 a.m. is paramount.

The blood Bank makes blood available to a county based on its collections. The county could fall below its minimum collections, 90 per cent of quota, needed for full coverage.

Jack Mader, local blood program chairman, emphasized that 150 donors are needed Thursday.

Quota for the year to date is 750 pints and collections are short of that amount by 64.

Senators Back Pentagon's Bid To Continue With C5A

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators backing the Pentagon's request to go ahead with the controversial C5A transport say more of the supercargo planes could enable a cutback in U.S. forces overseas.

Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said today in prepared speeches that by using the huge transports to boost the nation's airlift capability, the number of American troops abroad might be trimmed.

The arguments came as the Senate headed toward an expected afternoon vote on Sen. William Proxmire's effort to hold up authority for 23 more C5As pending a General Accounting Office study of the need for the planes.

Proxmire said the review also should delve into the heavily criticized contract under which initial production losses by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. will be made up by the government.

Young, senior GOP member of the Appropriations Committee and its defense subcommittee, said he favors a sharp reduction in the U.S. Army in Europe.

“With the capability we will have through the C5A,” he said, “we could easily withdraw two or three divisions from Germany.” This would be nearly half the U.S. ground force there.

Young said most of the increased cost in the C5A—nearly $2 billion since the contract was signed in 1965—is due to inflation, frequent changes in production schedules and improvement “which gives us a better weapons system and should not be considered as a cost increase in the usual sense.”

He charged the Proxmire amendment “would cause a break in the production of the C5A aircraft which could lead to tremendous further increases in its cost.”

Proxmire has contended that since the 58-plane first run won't be completed until mid-1971, his amendment would not cause any delay.

A NASA spokesman said the modified F8A should be ready to begin a two-year flight-test program late in 1970 and that passenger liners with the new wing could be in service by 1974.

The back-swept wing, which looks like a boomerang fixed to the top of an ordinary fuselage, is flat on the top side and curved on the bottom—just the opposite of the wings on today's airliners.

The new shape was engineered to reduce drag and buffeting and thus increase efficiency, which translates into greater range, payload and speed.

The spokesman estimated the gain in efficiency at about 25 per cent. This would increase speed more than 100 m.p.h. beyond the 550 m.p.h. limit of most current airliners. He said some airlines might choose to increase payload rather than speed, and thus cut fares.

The odd shape has the effect of moving farther to the rear of the plane the “supercritical” point where shock waves develop in the stream of air flowing around it.

These shock waves drag at the plane's surfaces and can cause it to shake violently as it approaches the speed of sound. Moving this point of turbulence to the rear makes the aircraft easier to handle and more efficient.

The so-called “supercritical wing” was developed in wind tunnel studies at NASA's Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va., over the past four years by Dr. Richard T. Whitcomb. He designed the wasp-waist fuselage of many of today's supersonic military aircraft, including the F102 and F104 fighters and the B58 bomber.

There were 26 “enemy-initiated incidents aimed at South Vietnamese units and civilians.” It said 34 South Vietnamese had been killed in these actions and 60 wounded.

The Saigon government said its air force had flown 60 sorties in the past 24 hours, while its ground troops conducted 57 operations of battalion size or larger. A spokesman said all of

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A new boomerang-shaped wing may enable jetliners of the mid-1970s to fly 100 miles an hour faster than their present cruising speed.

Soccer Riot In 2nd Day At Caserta

CASERTA, Italy (AP) — Demonstrators battled police today for the second straight day after setting fires in protest of a bribery charge that set back the local soccer team. Parts of the town were wrecked by the fires and its 39,000 people were on strike.

About 2,000 demonstrators broke through police lines and halted traffic on the Rome-Caserta-Naples railway line, which had been restored to service under police guard during the night.

Police kept control of the burned railway station but the demonstrators blocked a grade crossing 500 yards away with piles of wood and stone. Traffic was being diverted over a second Rome to Naples line.

Armed with clubs and hurling stones demonstrators charged police lines around the railway station. Police fought them off with tear gas.

Ambulances rushed policemen and demonstrators to hospitals during the melee. The number of injured was not immediately known.

As the rioting went into its second day, the Italian Soccer Federation announced it would hear an appeal by the Caserta team against the demolition that touched off the disorders.

See Nigerian Cease-Fire

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — An air of expectancy prevailed at the African summit meeting today amid mounting reports that a cease-fire in the Nigerian-Biafran war would be announced today or Wednesday.

Conference sources said a cease-fire would be ordered so African heads of state could go to Biafra to meet with its leader, Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, in an effort to start peace talks.

The delegation will probably include President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, a prime mover for a cease-fire and the first president to extend diplomatic recognition to Biafra.

Nyerere and Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, the head of the Nigerian government, met Monday for the first time since the war started 28 months ago and had long private talks.

Informal sources denied earlier unconfirmed reports that a cease-fire would clear the way for Gowon and Ojukwu to meet. Gowon has always insisted that Ojukwu must first renounce Biafra's secession from Nigeria.

Hurricane Gerda Aims At Cape Cod

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Gerda, a fast-moving storm born almost overnight off the South Atlantic coast, slammed into southeastern New England today, catching the region only half prepared.

The storm bore down first on picturesque Cape Cod, and next was to turn its fury on eastern Maine.

Gerda developed on such short notice and traveled so quickly that officials feared property damage would be extremely heavy.

"We just can't move fast enough," said one police officer in Hyannis, on Cape Cod. "We're moving families into the school, and they're having to leave windows unboarded and everything because there just doesn't seem to be time... And they haven't got all the boats in either."

Hundreds of pleasure boats were anchored in the coves and harbors that dot the region's weathered shoreline, and Gerda's 90-100-mile-per-hour winds were expected to be especially destructive with them.

The storm left little untouched. Foam-flecked seas began tearing at Cape's exposed southern beaches around noon, eating away tons of sand.

Trees bent under the strain of the wind, and power and telephone outages developed as branches tore loose and sliced lines.

Gerda was trundling north-northeastward at 40 m.p.h., unusually fast for a hurricane.

The position of its center at noon EDT was about 50 miles south-southeast of Block Island, R.I., or near latitude 50.5 north and longitude 71.2 west.

Hundreds of pleasure craft remained at anchor in these towns, and officials said they feared loss of property would be extensive.

About 100 boats still were in the water at Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard, and Police Chief Dominick J. Arena said: "We're working like hell to get them buttoned down."

Earlier, New York and New Jersey residents were advised by the Weather Bureau "to be prepared to take quick action if this should prove necessary" and Mayor John V. Lindsay ordered New York City officials to "batten down the hatches." All city police units were alerted.

It had been traveling at about 20 m.p.h., but weather officials predicted "an increase in intensity and a more rapid movement."

In Rhode Island, the civil defense director said schools and other public buildings would be used as emergency shelters if the storm necessitated evacuation of low lying areas.

Massachusetts civil defense director Allan R. Zenowitz asked residents of Cape Cod and neighboring islands to check emergency plans.

In explaining the need for the funds, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff noted that the prisoner count was nearly as high as last year already and there were still four months of the year remaining.

Animal claims submitted by Chancy Hedges, Route 2, Ashville, were approved. The claims amounted to $75. Witness fees were $14.

Commissioners granted permission to Ohio Bell to bury cable on the west side of Welch Road between Route 762 and Snyder Road and to push pipe under Welch Road at two locations and under Snyder Road at two locations.

They also granted permission to Ohio Fuel Gas to install a two-inch gas line under Bell Station-Fairfield Road in Circleville Twp.

Kiesinger Says Europe Needs U.S.

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger said today that Western Europe must look indefinitely to the nuclear and conventional might of the United States for protection.

"Europe will not be able to do without the protection of American weapons—conventional as well as atomic—for an indefinite period," the West German government chief said in response to a series of written questions from The Associated Press.

The chancellor observed that a large-scale reduction of the American presence in Europe "would be of considerable consequences" and not for West Germany only.

The burden of European defense costs would rise considerably if the United States greatly reduced its contribution in men and funds. Asked if West Germany would be willing to bear such increased defense costs, Kiesinger replied:

"The political unification of Europe is the answer to your question. European and American members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must jointly develop a long-range concept that excludes dangerous risks to the security of all members of the alliance."

He indicated that he thinks President Nixon is going along with a stand Kiesinger has already made public: that America should lead, not dominate, Europe. Asked which he thought the United States was doing, Kiesinger replied:

"The American President shares my view and his policies are in accord with our mutual conviction."

Seat Belts Save Motorist From Serious Injury

Seat belts saved Mrs. Gladys M. Eastman, 71, of Lockbourne, from serious injury today according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover.

Mrs. Eastman swerved to avoid striking a car driven by Glenn R. Baker, 25, Columbus, as it pulled onto the Ashville - Fairfield Road in front of her at 10:50 a.m. today.

She struck a utility pole, heavily damaging the front end of her car. She escaped with a bruised knee.

At 6:35 p.m. Monday, Mrs. Betty Hayes Combs, 38, Route 1, Ashville, struck and killed a hog owned by William Winter, also of Route 1, Ashville. Mrs. Combs told Deputy Sheriff Hoover that there were several hogs on the Ashville - Fairfield Road and she could not avoid hitting them. The accident occurred six miles north of Circleville.

Rugs To Announce Official Candidacy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Rugs, a Newark businessman, called a news conference in Columbus today to announce his candidacy for an unnamed public office.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans now anticipate a wide-open contest—with the White House likely to take an active role—for the Senate leader's job left vacant by Everett

M. Dirksen's death.

At least five GOP senators, and possibly more, are rated prospective candidates.

For the moment, and probably for the remainder of this Dirksen funeral week, no Republican senator is willing to talk frankly and publicly about the looming leadership race.

GOP sources indicated the prospective senators to succeed Dirksen are "not yet to wait, taking their own soundings of support, before deciding whether to openly enter the competition."

Although one senator said "It shouldn't take too long to contact 43 Republicans," indications are even the contact work won't begin immediately.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, now acting Republican leader, refused to discuss his possible candidacy to win the job permanently. "My responsibility is just to carry on until other arrangements are made," he said.

Those arrangements will be made at a conference of Republican senators, not yet scheduled, to vote on Dirksen's successor.

The Liberal Republican Scott is certain to face a conservative challenge if, as expected, he bids for the top GOP job.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska and Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado are rated prime prospects among the more conservative Republicans. Sen. John Tower of Texas said he would be available but did not expect to be summoned to the task.

GOP sources said the White House certainly would be interested and involved in the Senate situation. One Republican said the administration would probably side with the more conservative wing of the party.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas, known to be interested in the leadership, is regarded as a possible compromise candidate. He is not closely identified with either wing of the party.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Cool weather is expected to continue over Ohio for the next couple of days.

Northwesterly winds streaming around a low pressure system over the upper St. Lawrence Valley is bringing decidedly cooler weather to Ohio. As this cool air flows over the warm waters of the Great Lakes large amounts of moisture are absorbed and areas of cloudiness develop with showers occurring at intervals. During one showery period Monday night .25 inch of rain fell at Cleveland.

The southern and southwestern parts of the state have been mostly clear. Early this morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s except in the northwestern counties where Toledo and Findlay reported readings in the upper 40s. In contrast, at Chesapeake on the Ohio River in extreme southwestern Ohio, the mercury stood in the mid 50s.

Afternoon temperatures probably will remain in the 60s over most of the state today with readings reaching only into the upper 60s and lower 70s Wednesday. As the high pressure over western Ontario drops southeastward into the Ohio Valley Wednesday night and Thursday a warming trend will begin to set in. Showers may develop again over the northeastern half of the state today and over the extreme northeast Wednesday with generally sunny skies Thursday.

Eight Speeders Top Municipal Court Docket
Eight area men faced speeding charges in Circleville Municipal Court Tuesday.

John D. Christian, 23, of 148 W. High St., forfeited $19 for speeding 44 in a 35 mile zone.

Jerry W. Harris, 26, Route 2, and Roger D. Fausnaugh, 19, of 449 E. Main St., failed to appear in court on the charges of speeding 43 in a 35 mile zone. They both forfeited $19 bond.

Larry Hamilton, 18, 64 Bolens Ave., was handed a fine of $10 plus $15 in costs for the same charge.

Terry D. Kifer, 24, of 234 Cedar Heights Road, forfeited $19 bond for going 45 in a 35 mile zone.

Gene Dyke, 20, of 353 E. Main St., forfeited a $34 bond for speeding 60 in a 35 mile zone.

Leo F. Speakman, 43, of 321 Barnes Ave., failed to appear before the court for speeding 70 in a 60 mile zone. He forfeited $19 bond.

Allen E. Davis, 28, American Hotel, forfeited $24.75 bond for speeding 75 miles in a 60 mile zone.

In other cases before the court Tuesday, Gerald Schmit, 49, Lockbourne AFB, was fined $150 and costs for driving while intoxicated. He also had his license suspended for 30 days.

Robert Fyffe entered a plea of innocent to the charge of disorderly conduct. He was given a $50 fine with $25 suspended.

Ronald William Rollins, 20, of 1058 Mulberry Road, forfeited a total of $48 in bonds for the double charges of disturbing the peace by making unnecessary noise with his car and intoxication.

Raymond Uhl, 32, of 351 Ray Ave., forfeited $24 bond for intoxication and disturbing the peace.

Fines and forfeitures of out-of-town motorists totaled $640.

Michigan is another man in the middle category. Griffin, however, has been in the Senate for only three years, and is regarded as a longshot possibility.

One senior Republican said he anticipated conservatives would join forces behind a single candidate, probably either Allott or Hruska, to avoid splintering their votes in a contest with Scott.

Another said wryly: "Maybe we should advertise."

Enlarging his backyard model, which works somewhat like a toilet, Dexter came up with Big Surf, which holds four million gallons of water.

The water is pumped into a four-story reservoir constructed at one end of the lagoon. The water is released, or flushed, from gates along the bottom of the reservoir about seven feet under the water. The shock yields a wave that runs laterally to the beach. The pumps keep the water level constant.

Church Group Attends Assembly
Over 40 representatives of the local Jehovah's Witnesses attended the South Central Ohio "Right Kind of Ministers" Circuit Assembly Sunday.

The 3-day assembly was held at Pleasant View High School in Grove City. The agenda consisted of dramas, movies, Bible studies, lectures and discussions of Christian life.

The delegates will present reports on the convention to the local congregation at their regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Maps of the Great Lakes region list more than a dozen rivers, lakes, bays and falls named Sturgeon. Lake of the Woods, one of the greatest sturgeon ponds in the world, yielded 1.6 million pounds of the land locked variety in 1839.

Surfers Are Making Waves Deep In The Arizona Desert

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — They're surfing in the Arizona desert.

Hurricane Gerda Aims At Cape Cod

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Gerda, a fast-moving storm born almost overnight off the South Atlantic coast, slammed into southeastern New England today, catching the region only half prepared.

The storm bore down first on picturesque Cape Cod, and next was to turn its fury on eastern Maine.

Gerda developed on such short notice and traveled so quickly that officials feared property damage would be extremely heavy.

"We just can't move fast enough," said one police officer in Hyannis, on Cape Cod. "We're moving families into the school, and they're having to leave windows unboarded and everything because there just doesn't seem to be time. . . And they haven't got all the boats in either."

Hundreds of pleasure boats were anchored in the coves and harbors that dot the region's weathered shoreline, and Gerda's 90-100-mile-per-hour winds were expected to be especially destructive with them.

The storm left little untouched. Foam-flecked seas began tearing at the Cape's exposed southern beaches around noon, eating away tons of sand.

Trees bent under the strain of the wind, and power and telephone outages developed as branches tore loose and sliced lines.

Gerda was trundling north-northeastward at 40 m.p.h., unusually fast for a hurricane.

The position of its center at noon EDT was about 50 miles south-southeast of Block Island, R.I., or near latitude 50.5 north and longitude 71.2 west.

Hundreds of pleasure craft remained at anchor in these towns, and officials said they feared loss of property would be extensive.

About 100 boats still were in the water at Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard, and Police Chief Dominick J. Arena said: "We're working like hell to get them buttoned down."

Earlier, New York and New Jersey residents were advised by the Weather Bureau "to be prepared to take quick action if this should prove necessary" and Mayor John V. Lindsay ordered New York City officials to "batten down the hatches." All city police units were alerted.

It had been traveling at about 20 m.p.h., but weather officials predicted "an increase in intensity and a more rapid movement."

In Rhode Island, the civil defense director said schools and other public buildings would be used as emergency shelters if the storm necessitated evacuation of low lying areas.

Massachusetts civil defense director Allan R. Zenowitz asked residents of Cape Cod and neighboring islands to check emergency plans.

In other action Monday, commissioners transferred $6,000 to the sheriff's budget for gasoline and oil and to feed the prisoners.

In explaining the need for the funds, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff noted that the prisoner count was nearly as high as last year already and there were still four months of the year remaining.

Animal claims submitted by Chaney Hedges, Route 2, Ashville, were approved. The claims amounted to $75. Witness fees were $14.

Commissioners granted permission to Ohio Bell to bury cable on the west side of Welch Road between Route 762 and Snyder Road and to push pipe under Welch Road at two locations and under Snyder Road at two locations.

They also granted permission to Ohio Fuel Gas to install a two-inch gas line under Bell Station-Fairfield Road in Circleville Twp.

Kiesinger Says Europe Needs U.S.

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger said today that Western Europe must look indefinitely to the nuclear and conventional might of the United States for protection.

"Europe will not be able to do without the protection of American weapons—conventional as well as atomic—for an indefinite period," the West German government chief said in response to a series of written questions from The Associated Press.

The chancellor observed that a large-scale reduction of the American presence in Europe "would be of considerable consequences" and not for West Germany only.

The burden of European defense costs would rise considerably if the United States greatly reduced its contribution in men and funds. Asked if West Germany would be willing to bear such increased defense costs, Kiesinger replied:

"The political unification of Europe is the answer to your question. European and American members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must jointly develop a long-range concept that excludes dangerous risks to the security of all members of the alliance."

He indicated that he thinks President Nixon is going along with a stand Kiesinger has already made public: that America should lead, not dominate. Europe. Asked which he thought the United States was doing, Kiesinger replied:

"The American President shares my view and his policies are in accord with our mutual conviction."

Seat Belts Save Motorist From Serious Injury

Seat belts saved Mrs. Gladys M. Eastman, 71, of Lockbourne, from serious injury today according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover.

Mrs. Eastman swerved to avoid striking a car driven by Glenn R. Baker, 25, Columbus, as it pulled onto the Ashville - Fairfield Road in front of her at 10:50 a.m. today.

She struck a utility pole, heavily damaging the front end of her car. She escaped with a bruised knee.

At 6:35 p.m. Monday, Mrs. Bettie Hayes Combs, 38, Route 1, Ashville, struck and killed a hog owned by William Winter, also of Route 1, Ashville. Mrs. Combs told Deputy Hoover that there were several hogs on the Ashville - Fairfield Road and she could not avoid hitting them. The accident occurred six miles north of Circleville.

Road To Announce Official Candidacy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Rugg, a Newark businessman, called a news conference in Columbus today to announce his candidacy for an unnamed public office.

Fight For GOP Leadership Post Reported Wide Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans now anticipate a wide-open contest—with the White House likely to take an active role—for the Senate leader's job left vacant by Everett M. Dirksen's death.

At least five GOP senators, and possibly more, are rated prospective candidates.

For the moment, and probably for the remainder of this Dirksen funeral week, no Republican senator is willing to talk frankly and publicly about the looming leadership race.

GOP sources indicated the prospective senators to succeed Dirksen are "to wait, taking their own soundings of support, before deciding whether to openly enter the competition."

Although one senator said "It shouldn't take too long to contact 43 Republicans," indications are even the contact work won't begin immediately.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, now acting Republican leader, refused to discuss his possible candidacy to win the job permanently. "My responsibility is just to carry on until other arrangements are made," he said.

Those arrangements will be made at a conference of Republican senators, not yet scheduled, to vote on Dirksen's successor.

The Liberal Republican Scott is certain to face a conservative challenge if, as expected, he bids for the top GOP job.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska and Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado are rated prime prospects among the more conservative Republicans. Sen. John Tower of Texas said he would be available but did not expect to be summoned to the task.

GOP sources said the White House certainly would be interested and involved in the Senate situation. One Republican said the administration would probably side with the more conservative wing of the party.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas, known to be interested in the leadership, is regarded as a possible compromise candidate. He is not closely identified with either wing of the party.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Cool weather is expected to continue over Ohio for the next couple of days.

Northwesterly winds streaming around a low pressure system over the upper St. Lawrence Valley is bringing decidedly cooler weather to Ohio.

As this cool air flows over the warm waters of the Great Lakes large amounts of moisture are absorbed and areas of cloudiness develop with showers occurring at intervals. During one showery period Monday night .25 inch of rain fell at Cleveland.

The southern and southwestern parts of the state have been mostly clear. Early this morning temperatures were mostly in the 50s except in the northwestern counties where Toledo and Findlay reported readings in the upper 40s. In contrast, at Chesapeake on the Ohio River in extreme southwestern Ohio, the mercury stood in the mid 50s.

Afternoon temperatures probably will remain in the 60s over most of the state today with readings reaching only into the upper 60s and lower 70s Wednesday. As the high pressure over western Ontario drops southeastward into the Ohio Valley Wednesday night and Thursday a warming trend will begin to set in. Showers may develop again over the northeastern half of the state today and over the extreme northeast Wednesday with generally sunny skies Thursday.

Mothers March Against Speeders
MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Fourteen mothers, angered by motorists' disregard of speed limits in the vicinity of St. Mary's School on heavily-traveled Central Avenue here, vowed today to continue picketing of the street begun Monday.

Michigan is another man in the middle category. Griffin, however, has been in the Senate for only three years, and is regarded as a longshot possibility.

One senior Republican said he anticipated conservatives would join forces behind a single candidate, probably either Allott or Hruska, to avoid splintering their votes in a contest with Scott.

Another said wryly: "Maybe we should advertise."

Arrest 5 With Arms

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Five persons were arrested and an arsenal of weapons and a quantity of narcotics confiscated today in a raid by about 125 heavily armed policemen at the Martin Luther King Memorial Center and other locations.

Those arrested included Charles "Poppy" Sharp, controversial leader of Camden's Black People's Unity Movement.

Public Safety Director Harold Melloy, who led the raids, said Sharp was charged with inciting a riot, possession of deadly weapons, violation of the state's crime act, possession of narcotics and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police said the raiders confiscated at the center a half-dozen machetes, four home-made spears and "war axes," bows and arrows with "killer tips," a .22-caliber automatic pistol and a shotgun. The four others — three men and a woman — were picked up at their homes.

Forty-three bags of heroin and three ounces of marijuana also were confiscated, Melloy said.

DEAR ALSO: I have checked with my medical authorities and they concur that this one tops the story about the "star rising in the East." I have heard that there is nothing new under the sun. But perhaps there is something new under the water.

DEAR ABBY: I am a recent college graduate. My parents paid my tuition and room and board at college. I paid for all my books, clothes, and other expenses by working.

Recently my father handed me a bill for $7,492.23. He said that is what I owe him for college, and he wants it paid back now.

I did not promise, suggest, or agree to pay back any money when I started college. My trouble. The bill seems way out parents are not in any financial of proportion since my school cost only $430 per semester and I finished in seven semesters. My father refuses to explain why the bill is so large, and he is threatening to sue me. Do you think I need a lawyer?

PITTSBURGHER
DEAR PITTSBURGHER: Not yet — if the facts are as you stated them. But should your father actually sue you, then you may have to shell out for a lawyer to defend yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 10 years to a hard working man whom I love very much. He was married twice before, and one of his ex-wives lives about 400 miles from here.

Every so often he takes a vacation alone and he always stops off to see her for two or three days. He is taking another vacation and I heard him tell her on the phone that he would be seeing her.

If I say anything about it he raises his voice in anger as if I have no right to wonder why he wants to see her. I am sure if I had an ex-husband (which I haven't) and visited him every now and then my husband wouldn't stand for it.

I hate arguments, therefore I keep it to myself, but I get all torn up inside when I think of it.

I have tried to be broad-minded, but I am beginning to feel that maybe I'd be better off away from him rather than to fight this situation every time it comes up.

PLEASE tell me what to do.

ALL TORN UP
DEAR TORN: I will tell you what NOT to do. DON'T give your husband an "either or" ultimatum unless you are willing to accept the consequences.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man whose name you would recognize, as he is quite prominent. He is not particularly handsome, but he does have an appealing voice. (He's a news commentator on television.)

Abby, you wouldn't believe the number of women he hears from every week! They write him love letters, offer to meet him ANYWHERE, send him gifts, and one dinging even sent pictures of her face and figure, plus a notarized photostat of her bank balance!

I am not jealous, but I wonder what kind of woman flips over a man about whom she knows absolutely nothing?

DEAR AMAZED: One with a ten-year-old mentality who spends a lot of time watching television and daydreaming.

Antioch - Columbia Experiment Set

By JOHN WOODFIELD
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBIA, Md. (AP) — Described as "an alternative to higher education," Antioch-Columbia begins operations next month with a format designed to get its students involved in the world.

The college, a branch of Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, will require full-time work in jobs outside the school, use of facilities such as libraries and laboratories already in the area and encourage its students to become financially independent of their parents.

"Many colleges and universities stand as citadels in their town or city settings," explained Morris Keeton, an Antioch vice president and chief administrator of the Columbia experiment.

"Our program will be deliberately dispersed, encouraging as much fruitful interaction as possible with the people and institutions of the region," he said.

At the Yellow Springs campus students take classroom studies alternately with three-month stretches of full-time work. To graduate they must accumulate 90 hours of full-time work in addition to 160 credit hours of instruction.

The Columbia branch, however, will put less emphasis on formal instruction and more on employment, preferably in fields related to the "fields of interest" the school offers in place of majors. These fields include documentary arts, contemporary human problems, environmental sciences and community education.

"Rather than a collection of buildings, people and other resources in a specific geographical location," Keeton said, "Antioch-Columbia will be primarily a means for enabling people to learn and test their learning in concrete situations."

The school offers the talents of its students on a contractual basis, to local businesses. In addition to fulfilling the outside work requirement, this enables the students to help meet the cost of their education, which the school encourages.

Even if parents can afford the $4,500-6,000 a year, Keeton estimates it will cost students to attend Antioch-Columbia, they are encouraged to donate to the school's funds rather than directly support their children's education.

"We believe that many students are emotionally crippled today by their dependence upon their parents or others for tuition and support," Keeton said.

It seems that a 15-year-old virgin girl began having pregnancy symptoms after having swum in a public swimming pool. Her mother took her to a doctor who examined her and said that the girl was still a virgin, and the symptoms were "false." The symptoms continued, and after nine months the girl gave birth to a healthy baby boy.

They called this a billion-to-one-chance that some male sperm in the water impregnated the girl. The city agreed to pay the girl a pension.

Will you please tell me if this is possible?

Water Flunks Test

Water in the United States in the past has been largely available and pure enough to require little attention by health officials. That may no longer be true, judging from preliminary data of a federal survey of community water systems.

Eight metropolitan areas, in which 20 million persons live, were chosen for the study. In two areas where the studies have been completed, 63 per cent of the water systems have been found deficient by Public Health Service standards. Pesticide traces were found in 76 samples out of 79 tested.

Thirty-one per cent of the entire state of Vermont's water systems were found to be contaminated by bacteria. Bacterial contamination in individual water supplies such as wells, cisterns and springs ranged from 40 to 80 per cent.

Routine control procedures are neglected or skipped completely by some water system operators.

There were other criticisms also, but these are sufficient to prove the point that Americans have become careless in the provision and handling of the nation's water supplies.

Hopefully, it will not require the return of some serious malady, such as typhoid fever, to convince public officials and private operators alike that the safety of water supplies no longer can be taken for granted.

Pub's Image Suffers

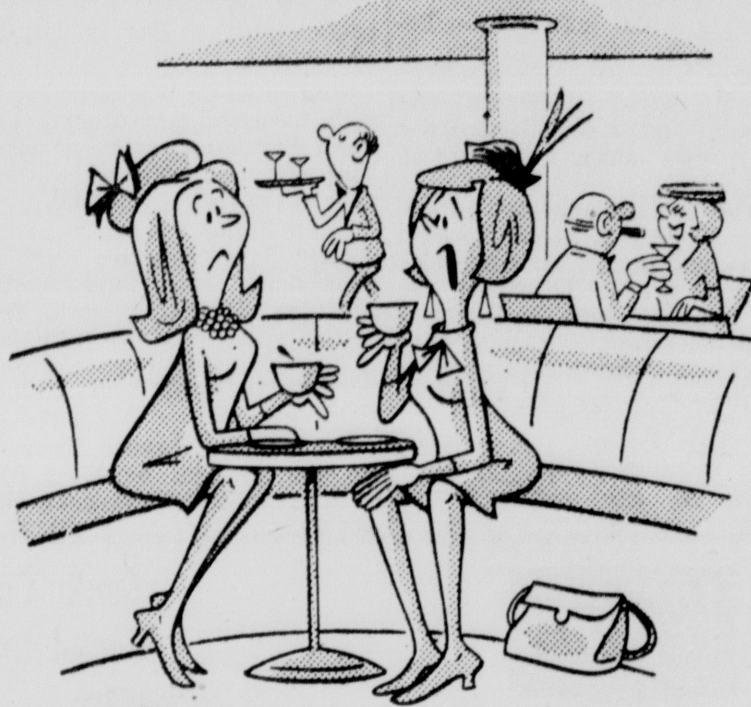

A manager of a saloon in Maidstone, England, has dealt British tradition several severe blows, all because he tired of phone calls from wives who wouldn't believe him when he said their spouses had left the premises. He installed a time clock and gave punch cards to his regular patrons.

Now there may be no doubt about when a customer enters or leaves, but the sanctity of the British pub has been forever ruined. Time should mean nothing to a man seeking comradeship or respite from a topsy-turvy world. To have to punch a time card before he can belly up to the bar is the final word in absurdity!

The very idea is enough to drive his customers to drink — somewhere else. Perhaps before long the manager of the Bridge House Hotel saloon will have removed the insidious device of industry from his premises, along with the telephone if that is such a bother to him.

A 300-POUND linesman on the awesome Los Angeles Rams football team explained at a dinner his system of defense: "I just jam in there and grab a lot of them. I peel them off—and the one that's got the ball, I keep him."

A play producer named Dan Hollywood achieved an odd sort of distinction this spring. His new comedy, "Jeremy Troy," folded before it hit Broadway, but the biographical sketch he turned out for the "Who's Who" program notes was so funny it was reprinted virtually in full in "Variety," the bible of show business.

It read in part, "Daniel Hollywood's greatest ambition is to meet a beautiful young girl with a potful of money. Yet his first production, 'The Andersonville Trial' had a cast of 31 men and no women. Rumors spread rapidly... His favorite actor is Rocky Graziano, who succinctly sums up his art of acting with these profound words: 'Dere's nuttin' to it. Ya loin da lines and ya say dem'... Hollywood made a real bundle on 'Never Too Late,' which he promptly squandered on the U.S. Government and a number of untalented ingenues."

Back from a visit to Tel Aviv, Danny Kaye claims he found a fine Chinese restaurant there. And when he cracked open the fortune cookie at the end of his repast, the message was "Don't read: EAT!"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Food poisoning is a regular excuse patients use to account for "day after" symptoms. Frequently the term is used without real recognition of the fact that it is an actual disorder and not due only to overindulgence. In many instances, spoiled food or food prepared in unhygienic conditions can produce irritation and inflammation of the stomach and the intestine.

This condition is known as gastroenteritis. The onset is usually sudden and can start a few hours after the contaminated food is eaten. The typical symptoms of abdominal distress and nausea may be due to other conditions and therefore it is unwise for one to make his own diagnosis of "food poisoning." Often the condition is self-limiting and disappears within thirty-six hours. Some simple drugs can control the unpleasant symptoms of diarrhea and nausea.

If the condition lasts more than this time, it is important that the blood and the stool be examined to rule out the possibility of salmonella organisms and other toxic ones that can cause food poisoning.

Fish, mussels and other seafood must be exceedingly fresh and eaten only in rigidly clean restaurants, if gastroenteritis is to be avoided.

The real health advantage of going to a spa, I believe, is the rest, the quiet and the limited diet has its part of the program. There was a time when the spa was a symbol of social status which also demonstrated the will power of temporary deprivation. This removed the sense of guilt from people who overindulged themselves with food, alcohol and tobacco for fifty weeks of the year. They then give themselves two weeks to feel self-righteous only to start the cycle all over again as soon as they return home.

I have known many patients who seek the most distant spas and then, after a course of thermo baths, mud packs and "special inhalations," feel they have found this year's fountain of youth.

They are bathed, flushed, irrigated and cleansed until they are bacteria free for about twelve seconds after they leave the spa.

I know that there are thousands of adherents to spas who differ with my attitude. They will differ with my attitude. They will take a personal "Oath of Hippocrates" to swear that only at spas can their chronic ailments be relieved.

I think that the great benefits of any spa are the psychological and emotional ones resulting from being coddled in plush institutions. To be away from the hectic activity of the home and one's occupation is a great advantage whether the time is spent at a Yugoslavian spa or at a neighboring beach.

Crisis On Campuses

By BARRY GOLDWATER JR.

For John Chamberlain (While John Chamberlain is on vacation, various people are substituting for him.)

With only a few days to go until the beginning of the 1969-70 academic year, some Americans are again beginning to think about the problems on America's college campuses. As the summer has gone by, last year's troubles seem to have melted away, but to the serious college administrator or student they are still there, no matter how long a summer.

Some experts predict more violent turmoil this upcoming school year than in any previous year. This certainly shocks me as I am sure it alarms every American, but again: What is the answer to this problem?

Certainly the answers by many school officials, politicians, and even parents haven't been the correct solutions. The problem has increased. The time is long overdue for a true understanding of the problems afflicting America's colleges and universities.

First, we must begin to prosecute those who are conspiring to destroy America's campuses as well as the system itself. Secondly, we must answer those responsible young people, who have legitimate grievance.

After a recent tour of American college, Britain's top policeman has blamed U.S. judges for the problem. Sir Eric St. Johnston, Chief Inspector of the British Constabulary, declared, "The real problem is that the police are not backed by the judges. The courts are far too ready to listen to defense lawyers and let people out on bail."

Johnson added: "I came back depressed about the future in the states. They must get support for their police..." The English law enforcement official continued, "In Berkeley the police told me they have arrested 400 people... it would take up to two years for all the cases to be dealt with."

The British official concluded, "In the meantime the students could not be disciplined and consequently you have an undesirable element on the campuses."

I certainly believe Chief Inspector St. Johnston was correct in his summary of the problem in America. In fact, the same problem occurred at San Fernando Valley State College when a group of students were acquitted of charges by a Los Angeles County Judge earlier this year.

A large segment of the small group of revolutionaries on our campuses are well organized Marxists who are not dedicated to improving the education of America's youth. They are only interested in the ultimate destruction of our system of government.

This group of revolutionaries has systematically worked since the 1960 riots against the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco to achieve their goals. Certainly some of the anarchists date back further than that, but our immediate problems began 10 years ago on the steps of the San Francisco City Hall.

Slowly but surely they have infiltrated and organized on nearly every college campus in America. They have learned to use the very system they seek to destroy to achieve their subversive goal. The names of the groups have changed continually, but the same names continue to be evident, such as Bettina Aptheker, Jerry Rubin or Tom Hayden.

These revolutionaries must be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, but we secondly must begin to tackle the real problems which beset our college and university systems.

Responsible students are justifiably tired of being treated like numbers in a huge computerized world. They go to school and are taught by teaching assistants hardly older themselves. Meanwhile, the college professor is either writing an article or going to a faculty meeting.

The time is long overdue for a serious reevaluation of the role of a professor and the curriculum which he teaches.

Yes, the riots must stop, but at the same time the academic chaos in the classroom must also cease.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

The 91st Congress is back in session after a three-week work-vacation recess. This was the first time in history that Congress had taken a recess during a session for work in the district and to afford an opportunity for a family get-together before the beginning of the new school year.

Unlike other years when talk of adjournment commenced after Labor Day, this year it is acknowledged that we will be in session until Christmas. There is much unfinished business. The growing controversies over military spending, tax reforms, ABM, departmental appropriations and numerous other important matters will keep Congress busy in the months ahead.

The first bill to be voted on after our return on Wednesday was a bill which would amend the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act to authorize appropriations for 1970 and 1971. In 1966 the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act was enacted. In that year 53,041 persons lost their lives in automobile accidents. Last year the figure rose to over 55,500. From January 1, 1961 to August 30, 1969, 38,318 Americans boys were killed by enemy action in Vietnam. This dramatized the seriousness of the problem.

Most of the deaths are caused because the vehicle occupants are propelled forward into the steering mechanism, the windshield or the dashboard. Much research is being done on two lifesaving devices which hold promise of a major breakthrough. They are the air bag restraint system and the front-end energy-absorbing system. The air bag device inflates at the moment of impact and cushions the vehicle occupants as they are propelled forward. Prototype models have been developed which hold much promise and require no action on the part of the driver or the passenger to be effective.

Tests reveal that drivers and passengers may walk away from a head-on collision with speeds up to 60 miles per hour without injury. Experiments are also being conducted in the use of some type of helmet or headgear. Research and tests are being conducted on vehicle tires, the brake system and the promulgation of safety standards, all designed to make driving more livable.

Next week promises to be a very interesting one in that the Constitutional Amendment providing for the election of the President and Vice President will be on the House Floor for consideration. It is likely that most of the week will be taken up with this bill.

Another bill which passed the House on Thursday was the Clean Air Act which would extend for one year funds for research and development in the prevention and control of air pollution resulting from fuel combustion.

Among the provisions of the Air Quality Control Act of 1967 is a section which clearly reflects the nation's pressing need for new and improved means of dealing with the air pollution problems associated with fuel combustion and motor vehicles. It has been estimated by research and development experts that fumes of vehicle exhausts are the source of 60 per cent of the air pollution problem in the United States.

This bill is to find out and to provide the maximum feasible control of air pollution caused by fuel combustion. The Senate action drawing the most attention is the consideration of the Defense budget. We have received considerable mail on this bill, most suggesting that budget cuts ought to be made in this area. Probably so — and yet we must be certain that American safety is not jeopardized and that the United States does not become a second-rate nation for lack of proper defense.

NEW YORK (AP) — A rose by any other name not only smells as sweet—it sells a good deal more sweetly. And this apparently is true for every color in the rainbow.

In the high fashion ads a copywriter would blush like a rose to describe a garment as such. Instead it is more elegantly labeled petal, American Beauty or passion pink.

Giving a color its crayon-box name simply won't do in the world of haute couture and the haunter the couture the fancier the nomenclature. White, black and red are okay for the dresses hanging on the bargain basement racks, but in the boutiques they've got to be more sophisticated snow, jet or flame.

Who would ever pick a green or yellow frock when the same thing is available in such delectable shades as frosted mint or lemon ice?

Especially for the primary colors, calling a spade a spade is strictly forbidden. Yellow goes under such pseudonyms as buttercup, daffodil, banana and canary. Red is more appealing as scarlet or vermilion. Blue admits to what it is basically but glamorizes itself by coining up with adjectives to become ice blue, true blue, French blue, powder blue, robin egg blue or out-yonder blue.

Do you like jewels? Your next dress can be platinum, emerald, aquamarine, sapphire, coral, jade, garnet, ruby, amethyst or turquoise, and the style peddlers are creating new gem

You might start with olive, melon or canteloupe. Then there's oyster, shrimp, avocado, pistachio, cranberry, vanilla, cream, tangerine, chocolate, plum, persimmon, honey, taffy, peach and walnut.

And to top it all off, how about cognac, coffee and tobacco?

Tiny San Marino After Election

SAN MARINO (AP) — The Christian Democrats and the Social Democrats are expected to continue the centrist coalition that has governed this landlocked 24-square-mile republic in north-central Italy for the past 12 years.

Unofficial returns after Sunday's elections showed the Christian Democrats lost two of their 29 seats in the 60-seat Parliament and the Social Democrats picked up one for 11 seats. The Communist party held on to its 14 seats. Other parties and independents hold the remaining votes.

Christian Democrat leader Federico Bigi admitted his party had helped finance the return by air of some 500 San Marinese living in New York, Detroit and Sandusky, Ohio, to vote.

The Communists countered by supplying plane and train tickets to San Marinese working in blue collar jobs around Western Europe. A total of 7,419 of San Marino's 16,000 registered voters live abroad. A total of 13,314 ballots were cast Sunday.

Russells Point Mayor Is Tried

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Russells Point Mayor Lloyd G. Pickering went on trial in Logan County Probate Court here Monday for alleged misconduct in office.

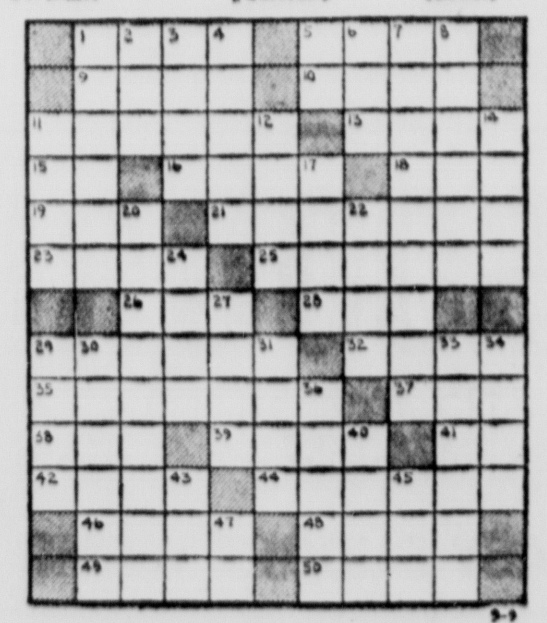

Five residents of Russells Point charged Pickering with using the Indian Lake resort town's police force to "harass other villagers and create an atmosphere of fear and distrust."

Judge Lieudell E. Bauer of Sidney is hearing the case. Pickering could be removed as mayor if he should be found guilty of malfeasance in office. The trial is expected to continue through Tuesday.

Damp air weighs less than dry air — Factograph item. How come then, we feel more depressed during cloudy weather?

The man at the next desk says that it's only natural that the football teams that prove during the season they can dish it out should be the ones to wind up in the bowl games.

Considering it unwise to enter a house left foot first, rich Romans posted slaves at their doors to assure that arriving guests put their best foot forward. In time, the servants became known as footmen.

Crisis On Campuses

By BARRY GOLDWATER JR.

For John Chamberlain (While John Chamberlain is on vacation, various people are substituting for him.)

With only a few days to go until the beginning of the 1969-70 academic year, some Americans are again beginning to think about the problems on America's college campuses. As the summer has gone by, last year's troubles seem to have melted away, but to the serious college administrator or student they are still there, no matter how long a summer.

Some experts predict more violent turmoil this upcoming school year than in any previous year. This certainly shocks me as I am sure it alarms every American, but again: What is the answer to this problem?

Certainly the answers by many school officials, politicians, and even parents haven't been the correct solutions. The problem has increased. The time is long overdue for a true understanding of the problems afflicting America's colleges and universities.

First, we must begin to prosecute those who are conspiring to destroy America's campuses as well as the system itself. Secondly, we must answer those responsible young people, who have legitimate grievance.

After a recent tour of American college, Britain's top policeman has blamed U.S. judges for the problem. Sir Eric St. Johnston, Chief Inspector of the British Constabulary, declared, "The real problem is that the police are not backed by the judges. The courts are far too ready to listen to defense lawyers and let people out on bail."

Johnson added: "I came back depressed about the future in the states. They must get court support for their police..." The English law enforcement official continued, "In Berkeley the police told me they have arrested 400 people... it would take up to two years for all the cases to be dealt with."

The British official concluded, "In the meantime the students

could not be disciplined and consequently you have an undesirable element on the campuses."

I certainly believe Chief Inspector St. Johnston was correct in his summary of the problem in America. In fact, the same problem occurred at San Fernando Valley State College when a group of students were acquitted of charges by a Los Angeles County Judge earlier this year.

A large segment of the small group of revolutionaries on our campuses are well organized Marxists who are not dedicated to improving the education of America's youth. They are only interested in the ultimate destruction of our system of government.

This group of revolutionaries has systematically worked since the 1960 riots against the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco to achieve their goals. Certainly some of the anarchists date back further than that, but our immediate problems began 10 years ago on the steps of the San Francisco City Hall.

Slowly but surely they have infiltrated and organized on nearly every college campus in America. They have learned to use the very system they seek to destroy to achieve their subversive goal. The names of the groups have changed continually, but the same names continue to be evident, such as Bettina Aptheker, Jerry Rubin or Tom Hayden.

These revolutionaries must be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law, but we secondly must begin to tackle the real problems which beset our college and university systems.

Responsible students are justifiably tired of being treated like numbers in a huge computerized world. They go to school and are taught by teaching assistants hardly older themselves. Meanwhile, the college professor is either writing an article or going to a faculty meeting.

The time is long overdue for serious reevaluation of the role of a professor and the curriculum which he teaches.

Yes, the riots must stop, but at the same time the academic chaos in the classroom must also cease.

WASHINGTON MEMO

By Congressman
CHALMERS P. WYLIE
15th District of Ohio

The 91st Congress is back in session after a three-week work-vacation recess. This was the first time in history that Congress had taken a recess during a session for work in the district and to afford an opportunity for a family get-together before the beginning of the new school year.

Unlike other years when talk of adjournment commenced after Labor Day, this year it is acknowledged that we will be in session until Christmas. There is much unfinished business. The growing controversies over military spending, tax reforms, ABM, departmental appropriations and numerous other important matters will keep Congress busy in the months ahead.

On Thursday, the House passed the so-called Child Protection Act of 1969. This bill amends the Federal Hazardous Substances Act to protect children from toys and other articles due to the presence of electrical, mechanical or thermal hazards.

Last year it was estimated that more than 15,000 children died from accidents related to toys. The existing law defines a hazardous substance as one which is toxic, corrosive, an irritant, a strong sensitizer, flammable, radioactive or which generate pressure through heat or other means. This bill enlarges this definition to include electrical, mechanical and thermal hazards as to children's toys and articles.

Another bill which passed the House on Thursday was the Clean Air Act which would extend for one year funds for research and development in the prevention and control of air pollution resulting from fuel combustion.

Among the provisions of the Air Quality Control Act of 1967 is a section which clearly reflects the nation's pressing need for new and improved means of dealing with the air pollution problems associated with fuel combustion and motor vehicles. It has been estimated by research and development experts that fumes of vehicle exhausts are the source of 60 per cent of the air pollution problem in the United States.

This bill is to find out and to provide the maximum feasible control of air pollution caused by fuel combustion.

The Senate action drawing the most attention is the consideration of the Defense budget. We have received considerable mail on this bill, most suggesting that budget cuts ought to be made in this area. Probably so — and yet we must be certain that American safety is not jeopardized and that the United States does not become a second-rate nation for lack of proper defense.

Next week promises to be a very interesting one in that the Constitutional Amendment providing for the election of the President and Vice President will be on the House Floor for consideration. It is likely that most of the week will be taken up with this bill.

Dear Editor:

Well, it has been past eight months and I am still off cigarettes.

I was wondering just how many that quit smoking Jan. 1, 1969 and are members of AA (Anonizers Anonymous) still have the right to be members. Let's find out.

Will some of the members let us know if they are still off the habit or are they back on it again. I, for one, am very proud to say that I am a member of AA. So let's hear from some of the members.

Bud Collyer Dies At 61

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Bud Collyer, a veteran of more than 30 years in radio and television, died Monday in Greenwich Hospital, where he was being treated for a circulatory ailment. He was 61.

In recent years Collyer was best known as the master of ceremonies on such shows as "To Tell the Truth," "Winner Take All," "Break the Bank" and "Beat the Clock."

From 1938 to 1952 he was the radio voice of Superman. He also had roles in the television shows "Cavalcade of America," "The March of Time," "Gangbusters," "Pretty Kitty Kelly" and "The Goldbergs."

He was born Clayton Heermance and in his youth planned a career in law. To supplement his pay as a law clerk in New York after graduating from Fordham University Law School, he played parts in several radio soap operas and finally abandoned his ambition to become an attorney in favor of full-time broadcasting.

He is survived by his widow, Marion, and three children.

State Garners License Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state collected nearly $103 million in license fees for motor vehicles during the first six months of the registration year.

State Auditor Roger Cloud said the fees through August totaled $102,966,679 and were up $8,599,084 over collections for the comparable period last year.

In addition to the state collections, Cloud said receipts from the $5 permissive tax being levied on vehicles by 48 local governments totaled $17,546,985. This tax is collected in 35 counties and 13 municipalities.

Mayor Says He Fired Gun 120 Times

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Lloyd G. Pickering of Russell's Point, his job in the balance, told a probate court judge Monday he fired a shotgun about 120 times to disperse a rowdy crowd last July 5.

He told Logan County Probate Court Judge Lieduall E. Bauer of Sidney all the shots were fired into the air or at the ground.

Pickering's court appearance followed a petition filed by five electors demanding his resignation and accusing him of malfeasance and misfeasance in office.

The electors claim Pickering used policemen to "harass other villagers and create an atmosphere of fear and distrust."

The mayor, who waived a jury trial, said he used the shotgun because it was cheaper and more effective than tear gas.

Pickering said he acted after several hundred persons created the disturbance after midnight, broke windows in a restaurant he operates and caused damage to the village post office.

constitutional amendments which would undo high court rulings banning official prayers in public schools and requiring that state legislatures be elected on an equal population basis.

At the time of his death Sunday, the Illinois senator had been unsuccessful, but he was still pushing the amendments which would:

—Permit one house of each state legislature to be apportioned on the basis of factors other than population.

—Make it clear that non-denominational prayer is permissible in schools and other public buildings.

A prayer amendment he proposed in 1966 won a 49-37 vote in the Senate, but this was eight short of the two-thirds majority needed.

His proposal would have provided that nothing in the Constitution "shall prohibit the authority administering any school, school system, educational institution or other public building supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds from providing for or permitting the voluntary participation by students or others in prayer."

He also was hoping, despite two defeats in the Senate, for passage of the amendment to wipe out the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rulings.

Dirksen had adopted the strategy of pushing for a constitutional convention. Earlier this year the move appeared near success, with the number of state legislatures petitioning Congress for a convention only one short of the number required.

However, challenges have been raised to the validity of a number of the petitions and there is a question now, with Dirksen's death, whether the momentum built up can be maintained.

Mount Pleasant Church Site For Family Reunion

Mount Pleasant Church, the 110 year old structure in Deercreek Township, was the setting Sunday for the Rector-Wiggins-Terwilliger - Rose Reunion.

Preceding the business meeting, a carry-in dinner was served.

All of the officers for this year's reunion were re-elected for the coming year. They are Mrs. Fred Bowsher, president; Ralph Coleman, vice-president; Mrs. Edgar Webb, secretary, and Mrs. Paul Counts, treasurer.

Mrs. Edith Russell gave the invocation. Readings were given by Mrs. Bowsher and Mr. Coleman. David Webb presented two selections on the chromatic harmonica. They were "September Song" and the theme song from the movie "Romeo and Juliet." Tim Burns entertained with two piano numbers. His selections were "Clair de Lune" and "Autumn Concerto."

For viewing at the reunion was a display of Fred I. Rector's collection of family pictures taken by Helen Eckert at a meeting of the Germanna Memorial Society at Germanna, Va., was shown.

A large bouquet of garden flowers was presented to the reunion by Mrs. Harry Barthelmas, N. Scioto Street.

Those who attended from Circleville and Pickaway County were Mrs. Edith Russell and granddaughter, Kim Bartholomew; Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Burns, Tim and Ty; Mrs. Edgar Webb, Mike, Dave and Sam; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coleman; Miss Sherrie Bumgarner; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moorehead; Mr. Paul Counts, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowsher.

Attending from out of the county were Miss Helen Eckert, Orville Manly, and Mrs. Charles Hays, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Dickerson, London, and Helen Manly Brown, Canal Winchester.

A prize to the youngest at the reunion was presented to seven-year-old Kim Bartholomew. Orville Manly received a gift for having traveled the farthest and Ty Burns won the door prize.

WSCS Installs New Officers

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Community United Methodist Church met Wednesday evening, at the church. The executive board held its business meeting at 7 p.m. prior to the general meeting in the youth chapel, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Walter Heine installed the officers for the year in a ceremony, using the song, "We Are One In The Spirit, We Are One In The Lord," as her theme. Joni and Janie Jenkins, Vicki Southward, Lynne Jacobs, Carol Hodges and Sandy Ressler provided the music and sang the words as Mrs. Heine read appropriate messages between each stanza for the officers.

Mrs. Kraft read the proposed budget for 1970 as recommended by the finance committee and executive board. Mrs. Jerry Wolford announced she had the pledge cards and gave the programs to the circle chairman.

The WSCS will serve the Appreciation Dinner for all church school workers at the church on Sept. 23.

Mrs. Gwen Defenbaugh who attended the School of Missions at Otterbein College for Ohio West Area on July 7-11 gave a report on the course, "The Inner Life," which she felt was very worthwhile.

Sandy Ressler and Vicki Southward were the representatives to the School of Missions for Youth. They reported on their activities and thanked the women for sending them.

Punch and cookies were served by the committee.

The next general society meeting will be held 8 p.m. Oct. 1, at the church. Mrs. Alfred Johnson, executive secretary of Pickaway County Child Services will be the speaker. She will discuss the newly established Group Home in Circleville.

Princeton Goes Coed

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Coeducation is now a fact of life at Princeton's University, where 171 women have registered at the 223-year-old previously all-male institution.

"Gentlemen and—at long last—ladies, I officially present the Class of 1973," Dean Joseph T. Ossander, director of admissions, said Monday.

Ossander closed the assembly with a special gift for the girls —chrysanthemums. He said a 1935 alumnus and former opponent of coeducation ordered the flowers.

The women are outnumbered 20 to 1 by the 3,700 male students.

Robin Herman of Port Washington, N.J., said of the odds: "The thing is, you can go around with your appointment book and just decide what dates to accept and what ones to turn down."

Mount Pleasant Church Site For Family Reunion

Mount Pleasant Church, the 110 year old structure in Deercreek Township, was the setting Sunday for the Rector-Wiggins-Terwilliger-Rose Reunion.

Preceding the business meeting, a carry-in dinner was served.

All of the officers for this year's reunion were re-elected for the coming year. They are Mrs. Fred Bowsher, president; Ralph Coleman, vice-president; Mrs. Edgar Webb, secretary, and Mrs. Paul Counts, treasurer.

Mrs. Edith Russell gave the invocation. Readings were given by Mrs. Bowsher and Mr. Coleman. David Webb presented two selections on the chromatic harmonica. They were "September Song" and the theme song from the movie "Romeo and Juliet." Tim Burns entertained with two piano numbers. His selections were "Clair de Lune" and "Autumn Concerto."

For viewing at the reunion was a display of Fred I. Rector's collection of family pictures. A folio of fifteen pictures taken by Helen Eckert at a meeting of the Germanna Memorial Society at Germanna, Va., was shown.

A large bouquet of garden flowers was presented to the reunion by Mrs. Harry Barthelmas, N. School Street.

Those who attended from Circleville and Pickaway County were Mrs. Edith Russell and granddaughter, Kim Bartholomew; Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Burns, Tim and Ty; Mrs. Edgar Webb, Mike, Dave and Sam; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coleman; Miss Sherrie Bumgarner; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moorehead; Mr. Paul Counts, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowsher.

Attending from out of the county were Miss Helen Eckert, Orville Manly, and Mrs. Charles Hays, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Dickerson, London, and Helen Manly Brown, Canal Winchester.

A prize to the youngest at the reunion was presented to seven-year-old Kim Bartholomew. Orville Manly received a gift for having traveled the farthest and Ty Burns won the door prize.

Ice Show Set At Ohio Fairgrounds

"Holiday on Ice," celebrating its Silver Anniversary, will appear at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum in nine performances opening at 8:15 p.m. Sept. 16 and closing Sept. 21.

September 20 evening show will start at 9 p.m. There will be no Sunday evening show. Matinees will start at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

The show will have a "Happy Birthday" motif. It was 25 years ago in Milwaukee when 35 persons assembled at the State Fair Coliseum to inaugurate the now world famous ice show. Now "Holiday on Ice" is the largest producer of skating revues and live entertainment in the world with a cast of 130 people.

Ronnie Robertson, called the world's best skater, again heads the 1970 edition. Ray Balmer, returning after two years with a European company, and young Tommy Allen, are featured male skaters. Women stars include Maree Langenbein, German girl who was a hit in last year's edition; Alice Quessy, premier ballerina; Grete Borgen, four-time Norwegian champion and Juanita Percelly.

Comedy acts include Paul Andre, Paul Leech, John LaDue, Alfredo Mendoza, Karl Kossmayer and his mules and Muller's "chimpanzees" who play hockey. Donn Arden is director and costumes were designed by Freddie Wittop.

Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office, 37 N. High St. and at all of its agencies.

News Magazine Gives Secret U.S. War Plans

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The news magazine Der Spiegel said Monday purported top-secret U. S. plans for guerrilla warfare with atomic and chemical weapons in Europe was sent to the Western press by the Soviet Union.

The documents were sent anonymously to Der Spiegel and Stern magazines in West Germany and to the American magazine Ramparts, among others.

Stern today published details of the document labeled "Top Secret Operations Plan 10-1." Stern said the plan was seven years old, and had been betrayed to the Russians but "the Pentagon in Washington and U.S. headquarters in Europe have not denied it is genuine."

Spiegel said the plan was one document handed over to the Soviet Union by a U.S. Army sergeant who in 1965 was convicted of betraying secrets to the Soviets.

Liquor Stores Set To Reopen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A state liquor control official says all the state liquor stores in Cuyahoga, Lake and Lorain counties will be open today following a "sick call" strike by employees.

More than 30 stores in the three counties reportedly were closed Friday and Saturday.

Ralph D. Copp deputy director in charge of stores, reported Monday that operations were "almost back to normal" with only two stores closed. He predicted that all the outlets would be open today.

Copp said he hoped to meet with the employees to find out what caused the work stoppage Friday when 175 workers did not report for duty.

NEW YORK (AP) — It is very probable that if Jack Paar became interested in page 42 of the Manhattan telephone directory or in the life cycle of the carpenter ant he could—and would—turn it into a television program. And it would hold the rapt attention of viewers.

In his Monday night NBC special, "Jack Paar and His Lions," the comedian expanded his affection for the king of beasts—"I have this thing about lions," he confessed—into a thoroughly absorbing, often poignant, actuality hour.

Paar's love for lions was stimulated by his adoption of Amani, a cub he raised in his Bronxville home. The program began with film of the cub and then moved into the story of Paar's involvement in saving three young lionesses, sisters, by moving them from Africa to a Florida lion preserve.

Jack invested $7,000 and a lot of emotion in the project, believing—erroneously as it turned out—that the lionesses were the offspring of the "Born Free" lions. But since he and his cameras were along from the beginning to the happy ending of the animals' immigration. It was a rewarding experience all around.

The most interesting film showed how the three lionesses, adjusted to their new life in Florida, still responded affectionately when reunited with the woman who had raised them from cubs.

CBS's first special of the fall season, "The Singers," was a big, handsome star-studded combination of comedy, hi-jinks and music that must inevitably be compared with "Laugh-In."

The familiar format was there, practically intact—the sight gags, the fast cuts, the satire, the blackouts, even Dick Martin in a cameo appearance. It added up to a rowdy, tuneful and fast-moving hour.

It will be a shame, however, if "Laugh-In" keeps inspiring these reasonably exact facsimiles. Imitation may be sincere flattery, but in television imitation soon becomes an overdose.

Earlier, NBC broadcast a half-hour special, "A Country Happening," a pleasant, bland little program of music and a bit of variety with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans as hosts.

It had been made, obviously, as a pilot for a future series, but in pace, atmosphere and style, it looked like a 1967 model of a show.

Theodore H. White's third "Making of the President," this time studying the forces and events that put Richard M. Nixon in the White House, will be broadcast by CBS tonight (9:30-11 EDT). It should be watched by all persons who complain that television is nothing but sports and bland entertainment.

The program, previewed by this reporter, is a reprise of the turbulent, shock-filled year, 1968. The film, much of it shot especially for the program, is illuminated by White's own thoughtful and perhaps controversial analysis of "that year of passion and fury."

Jury Ponders Hodges Verdict

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — An Ashland County Common Pleas Court jury of six men and six women resume deliberations today in the first-degree murder trial of Mark Hodges, charged with killing 20-year-old Karen Kern, of Sylvania.

The jurors received the case Monday afternoon and deliberated until 10 p.m. before being sequestered overnight.

Hodges, 28, a former Beavercreek service station operator, is charged with shooting to death Miss Kern, the niece of Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank King. The young woman's body was found in a roadside ditch near Perrysburg on Oct. 30, 1967.

Youth Sentenced For Sale Of LSD

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A 19-year-old former Elyria High School pupil has been sentenced to 20-to-40 years in the Mansfield Reformatory for the sale of LSD.

Timothy R. Sabota was sentenced Monday by Lorain County Common Pleas Court Judge Paul J. Mikus after the youth pleaded guilty to a charge of selling hallucinogens. Probation was denied.

Detroit's Law And Order Tested In Municipal Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Voters balled today in a municipal primary expected to test the city's racial and "law-and-order" climate for the first time at the polls since the devastating 1967 riots.

Candidates were being nominated for an entire new municipal government, including the nonpartisan offices of mayor, city council, clerk and treasurer.

A leading contender for mayor was a Negro, Wayne County Auditor Richard Austin.

Despite favorable weather, only about one-third of Detroit's 707,837 registered voters were expected at the polls before the 8 p.m. EST closing time.

The nominees will meet in a runoff election Nov. 4.

Among the mayoral candidates, Austin, 56, was regarded as the first Negro aspirant to have a chance of winning the top office in the nation's fifth largest city.

Three other candidates were major contenders for the office now held by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, who decided not to seek reelection after two four-year terms.

The three are Wayne County Sheriff Roman Gribbs, 43, a self-described moderate; Councilman Mary Beck, 61, an avowed "law-and-order" conservative, and Walter Shamie, 48, a businessman-promoter who was trounced by Cavanagh in the 1965 runoff election.

The outcome of today's voting will be viewed in the light of recent urban elections in Los Angeles and New York City, where the "law-and-order" issue and so-called "white backlash" also played roles.

Supporters of Austin expected him to get most of the votes from the black community, but they conceded he also must receive substantial backing from whites if he is to be one of the two mayoral candidates in November.

Negroes comprise about 40 per cent of Detroit's population. Both Austin and Sheriff Gribbs received the backing of Detroit's two metropolitan daily newspapers and Civic Searchlight, a nonpartisan "good government" organization formed in 1912.

2 Men Indicted In Fatal Stabbing

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The Scioto County Grand Jury returned Monday night first-degree murder indictments in the death of Bill L. Samuel, 31, South Shore, Ky.

Samuel was stabbed fatally on a Portsmouth street Saturday night, police reported.

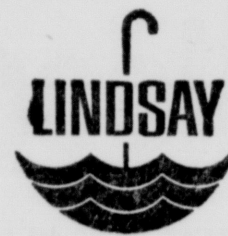

Named in the indictments were Michael Carver, 18, also of South Shore, and Paul Dyer, 21, of nearby Dry Run. Both were held without bond.

Two juveniles held in connection with the stabbing were referred to the Ohio Youth Commission for observation.

Ice Show
Set At Ohio
Fairgrounds

"Holiday on Ice," celebrating its Silver Anniversary, will appear at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum in nine performances opening at 8:15 p.m. Sept. 16 and closing Sept. 21.

September 20 evening show will start at 9 p.m. There will be no Sunday evening show. Matinees will start at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

The show will have a "Happy Birthday" motif. It was 25 years ago in Milwaukee when 35 persons assembled at the State Fair Coliseum to inaugurate the now world famous ice show. Now "Holiday on Ice" is the largest producer of skating revues and live entertainment in the world with a cast of 130 people.

Ronnie Robertson, called the world's best skater, again heads the 1970 edition. Ray Balmer, returning after two years with a European company, and young Tommy Allen, are featured male skaters. Women stars include Marel Langenbein, German girl who was a hit in last year's edition; Alice Quessy, premier ballerina; Grete Borgen, four-time Norwegian champion and Juanita Percelly.

Comedy acts include Paul Andre, Paul Leech, John LaDue, Alfredo Mendoza, Karl Kossmayer and his mules and Muller's "chimpanzees" who play hockey. Donn Arden is director and costumes were designed by Freddie Wittop.

Tickets are on sale at Central Ticket Office, 37 N. High St. and at all of its agencies.

News Magazine
Gives Secret
U.S. War Plans

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The news magazine Der Spiegel said Monday purported top-secret U. S. plans for guerrilla warfare with atomic and chemical weapons in Europe was sent to the Western press by the Soviet Union.

The documents were sent anonymously to Der Spiegel and Stern magazines in West Germany and to the American magazine Ramparts, among others.

Stern today published details of the document labeled "Top Secret Operations Plan 10-1." Stern said the plan was seven years old, and had been betrayed to the Russians but "the Pentagon in Washington and U.S. headquarters in Europe have not denied it is genuine."

Spiegel said the plan was one document handed over to the Soviet Union by a U.S. Army sergeant who in 1965 was convicted of betraying secrets to the Soviets.

Liquor Stores
Set To Reopen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A state liquor control official says all the state liquor stores in Cuyahoga, Lake and Lorain counties will be open today following a "sick call" strike by employees.

More than 30 stores in the three counties reportedly were closed Friday and Saturday.

Ralph D. Copp, deputy director in charge of stores, reported Monday that operations were "almost back to normal" with only two stores closed. He predicted that all the outlets would be open today.

Copp said he hoped to meet with the employees to find out what caused the work stoppage Friday when 175 workers did not report for duty.

Reds Back Into First; Win Two From Giants

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds were in first place in the National League West Division today and the Herculean efforts of pitcher Wayne Granger had a lot to do with it. The Reds clipped San Francisco twice Monday night by identical 5-4 scores and the double victory moved Cincinnati five percentage points ahead of the Giants in the division race.

Granger (8-5), summoned for relief help in each game, one which lasted 15 innings, gave two sparkling performances.

With the Reds leading by one run in the ninth of the opener and a runner on third base, he got Ken Henderson to fly out and Ron Hunt to hit into a double play.

In the nightcap, the Giants came from behind to even the score at 4-4 with a three-run rally in the seventh.

"MAGGIE THE MAGNIFICENT"—That's what tennis fans are calling Australia's Margaret Smith Court, considered the world's top feminine net star, who is shown here on her way to winning the ladies' singles crown in the United States Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills, N.Y. She beat Nancy Richey in the finals.

Relief pitchers Ron Herbel, Don McMahon and Frank Linzy then held Cincinnati hitless for 10 innings — from the fifth through the 14th. Herbel pitched two of the innings, McMahon five and Linzy three.

Granger, in the meantime, had entered the game in the eighth inning and held on grimly.

The Reds broke through to victory in the 15th when pinch hitter Ted Savage singled to deep short, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Bob Tolan's hit to center.

Jim Maloney (9-4) was the winning pitcher in the opener while Juan Marichal (17-10) took the loss. Linzy (13-6) was tagged for the loss in the nightcap.

The New York Mets and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn were the instruments of the latest developments Monday, the Mets tightening the Eastern race even further by defeating front-running Chicago 3-2 just hours after Kuhn had announced multiple plans covering all playoff possibilities.

Those possibilities moved closer to becoming probabilities — and forcing the first double playoff in history — as the Mets trimmed another length off the Cubs' lead and tightened the NL East race into NL West proportions.

The Mets' victory drew them even with the Cubs in the loss column, just 1½ games behind the leaders—the closest they've been since the third day of the season. At the same time, Pittsburgh closed to within 6½ of the top with a 6-2 triumph over Montreal.

In the West, meanwhile, the juggling continued with Cincinnati taking over first place from San Francisco, by one-half game, with a doubleheader sweep over the Giants by identical 5-4 scores, although the nightcap took 15 innings.

Los Angeles moved into third, just 1½ behind, by edging Atlanta 2-0 while, in other games, Houston stayed up there with a 9-2 blasting of San Diego and St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3.

Under baseball's new four-division format, the first-place teams in each league will meet in league playoffs prior to the World Series starting in the American League city Oct. 11. Kuhn's new plans cover playoffs

NL Division Races Get Down Near Wire

The National League East has taken on the look of the National League West, which could lead to the most complicated windup to the pennant races in baseball's 100-year history.

The New York Mets and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn were the instruments of the latest developments Monday, the Mets tightening the Eastern race even further by defeating front-running Chicago 3-2 just hours after Kuhn had announced multiple plans covering all playoff possibilities.

Those possibilities moved closer to becoming probabilities — and forcing the first double playoff in history — as the Mets trimmed another length off the Cubs' lead and tightened the NL East race into NL West proportions.

Los Angeles moved into third, just 1½ behind, by edging Atlanta 2-0 while, in other games, Houston stayed up there with a 9-2 blasting of San Diego and St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3.

Under baseball's new four-division format, the first-place teams in each league will meet in league playoffs prior to the World Series starting in the American League city Oct. 11. Kuhn's new plans cover playoffs leading to the playoffs.

If two teams in any division tie a one-game playoff on Oct. 3 will determine the winner. In a three-way tie, two teams will meet head-on Oct. 3 while one draws a bye and meets the winner Oct. 4. If four teams tie, there will be two games Oct. 3 with the survivors meeting Oct. 4.

The Mets closed in on Chicago with Tommie Agee providing the impetus. Agee whacked a two-run homer in the third inning, then doubled in the sixth and scored the winning run on Wayne Garrett's single. That tagged the loss on Bill Hands, now 16-13.

Jerry Koosman, 13-9, got the victory with a seven-hitter after the Cubs had tied the score in the top of the sixth on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams and a sacrifice fly by Ron Santo.

The Reds won the opener

when Johnny Bench tagged Giants' starter Juan Marichal, 17-10, for a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

Then, after being held hitless for 10 consecutive innings by San Francisco relievers Ron Herbel, Don McMahon and Frank Linzy, the Reds put the nightcap away in the 15th on an infield hit by pinch hitter Ted Savage, a sacrifice, an intentional walk to Pete Rose and Bobby Tolan's single.

The Pirates ran their winning streak to four games, and made it 14 victories in their last 20 games, by coming from behind in the ninth inning on a grand slam homer by Jose Martinez.

The homer was the first for Martinez in the majors.

A home run from another unlikely source, Ted Sizemore, brought Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. Sizemore's two-run shot in the third inning—only his second homer and both in Atlanta—gave the Dodgers the only runs they needed behind Bill Singer and Jim Brewer.

The Astros put it out of San Diego's reach with a four-run first built on triples by Joe Morgan and Jesus Alou, a wild pitch, a walk and a homer by Curt Blefary. That was enough for Tom Griffin, who posted his 10th victory despite two homers by Nate Colbert.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer boosted the Cardinals lead over the Phillies to 4-0 in the sixth inning and turned out to be the clinching blow when Philadelphia struck back in the ninth on a three-run homer by Johnny Briggs.

Rookie Al Fitzmorris posted his first big league victory with three innings of scoreless relief as Kansas City sent slumlord Oakland to its 11th defeat in 14 games.

Bob Oliver's two-run pinch homer in the fifth wined out a 3-1 Oakland lead and Lou Piniella drove in the go-ahead run in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. The Royals added three more in the ninth, two on Joe Keough's single.

A crowd of only 2,791, second smallest in Oakland Coliseum history, watched the game.

Gen. Michael knocked in two runs with singles and pitcher Mike Kekich, 2-4, drove in another as the Yankees edged Detroit and sent the defending world champions closer to elimination.

George Mira Gets Traded, Along With Many Others

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Mira got what he wanted but a host of other veterans didn't. Bobby Mitchell chose to avoid the whole issue.

Mira, five-year quarterback with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles and wide receiver Bobby Mitchell announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins on a busy Monday at football's market place and chopping block.

American Football League clubs made their final, no-recall cuts to reach the 40-man limit. NFL teams got down to 44 men, and will make their final, no-recall cuts to 40 Sept. 15.

Mira, who had often said he wanted to be traded, was dealt to the Eagles for veteran lineman Randy Beisler and two draft choices. Mira played in the shadow of John Brodie for most of his career. His departure opens the No. 2 spot to Steve Spurrier.

Beisler, the Eagles' first draft pick in 1966, has played both defensive end and offensive tackle.

Mitchell, his pride aching as much as his legs, announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins of the NFL, saying he couldn't stand being part of the team and sitting on the bench.

"This is a sad moment," said the No. 1 pass receiver among NFL active players. "After 20 years of playing it is hard to turn loose something you love."

Mitchell, a 34-year-old wide receiver, said his legs were making it hard to run even 10 yards with his old dash. He was being used as a reserve end this year. Coach Vince Lombardi said Mitchell will take a front office job on the club's player personnel staff.

Mitchell leaves an impressive legacy. He is No. 2 in total yardage for passes, rushing and kickoff returns with 14,078 yards—a record surpassed only by the great Jim Brown, his former teammate on the Cleveland Browns.

He is also No. 2 on the all-time list in pass receiving with 521 catches for 7,953 yards, trailing only the retired Raymond Berry of the Baltimore Colts.

Mitchell was traded to Washington from Cleveland, where he had been a running back, in 1962 for the late Ernie Davis.

The world champion New York Jets of the AFL went one under the 40-man limit in cutting four veterans. Defensive tackle Carl McAdams was placed on injured waivers, while running back Billy Joe and wide receiver Bill Rademacher were waived outright. The Jets placed offensive tackle Paul Siler on military reserve.

The Minnesota Vikings of the NFL waived five players, including veteran quarterback King Hill. The New York Giants of the NFL cut flanker Pete Gent, acquired from Dallas, and tackle Roger Anderson, a starter most of last season.

Another victim of the chopping block was veteran wide receiver Art Graham of the Boston Patriots of the AFL.

column, just 1½ games behind the leaders—the closest they've been since the third day of the season. At the same time, Pittsburgh closed to within 6½ of the top with a 6-2 triumph over Montreal.

In the West, meanwhile, the juggling continued with Cincinnati taking over first place from San Francisco, by one-half game, with a doubleheader sweep over the Giants by identical 5-4 scores, although the nightcap took 15 innings.

Los Angeles moved into third, just 1½ behind, by edging Atlanta 2-0 while, in other games, Houston stayed up there with a 9-2 blasting of San Diego and St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3.

Under baseball's new four-division format, the first-place teams in each league will meet in league playoffs prior to the World Series starting in the American League city Oct. 11. Kuhn's new plans cover playoffs leading to the playoffs.

If two teams in any division tie a one-game playoff on Oct. 3 will determine the winner. In a three-way tie, two teams will meet head-on Oct. 3 while one draws a bye and meets the winner Oct. 4. If four teams tie, there will be two games Oct. 3 with the survivors meeting Oct. 4.

The Mets closed in on Chicago with Tommie Agee providing the impetus. Agee whacked a two-run homer in the third inning, then doubled in the sixth and scored the winning run on Wayne Garrett's single. That tagged the loss on Bill Hands, now 16-13.

Jerry Koosman, 13-9, got the victory with a seven-hitter after the Cubs had tied the score in the top of the sixth on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams and a sacrifice fly by Ron Santo.

The Reds won the opener

when Johnny Bench tagged Giants' starter Juan Marichal, 17-10, for a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

Then, after being held hitless for 10 consecutive innings by San Francisco relievers Ron Herbel, Don McMahon and Frank Linzy, the Reds put the nightcap away in the 15th on an infield hit by pinch hitter Ted Savage, a sacrifice, an intentional walk to Pete Rose and Bobby Tolan's single.

The Pirates ran their winning streak to four games, and made it 14 victories in their last 20 games, by coming from behind in the ninth inning on a grand slam homer by Jose Martinez.

The homer was the first for Martinez in the majors.

A home run from another unlikely source, Ted Sizemore, brought Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. Sizemore's two-run shot in the third inning—only his second homer and both in Atlanta—gave the Dodgers the only runs they needed behind Bill Singer and Jim Brewer.

The Astros put it out of San Diego's reach with a four-run first built on triples by Joe Morgan and Jesus Alou, a wild pitch, a walk and a homer by Curt Blefary. That was enough for Tom Griffin, who posted his 10th victory despite two homers by Nate Colbert.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer boosted the Cardinals lead over the Phillies to 4-0 in the sixth inning and turned out to be the clinching blow when Philadelphia struck back in the ninth on a three-run homer by Johnny Briggs.

Rookie Al Fitzmorris posted his first big league victory with three innings of scoreless relief as Kansas City sent slumlord Oakland to its 11th defeat in 14 games.

Bob Oliver's two-run pinch homer in the fifth wined out a 3-1 Oakland lead and Lou Piniella drove in the go-ahead run in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. The Royals added three more in the ninth, two on Joe Keough's single.

A crowd of only 2,791, second smallest in Oakland Coliseum history, watched the game.

Gen. Michael knocked in two runs with singles and pitcher Mike Kekich, 2-4, drove in another as the Yankees edged Detroit and sent the defending world champions closer to elimination.

NL Division Races Get Down Near Wire

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League East has taken on the look of the National League West, which could lead to the most complicated windup to the pennant races in baseball's 100-year history.

The New York Mets and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn were the instruments of the latest developments Monday, the Mets tightening the Eastern race even further by defeating front-running Chicago 3-2 just hours after Kuhn had announced multiple plans covering all playoff possibilities.

Those possibilities moved closer to becoming probabilities — and forcing the first double playoff in history — as the Mets trimmed another length off the Cubs' lead and tightened the NL East race into NL West proportions.

Reds Back Into First; Win Two From Giants

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds were in first place in the National League West Division today and the Herulean efforts of pitcher Wayne Granger had a lot to do with it. The Reds clipped San Francisco twice Monday night by identical 5 - 4 scores and the double victory moved Cincinnati five percentage points ahead of the Giants in the division race.

Granger (8-5), summoned for relief help in each game, one which lasted 15 innings, gave two sparkling performances.

With the Reds leading by one run in the ninth of the opener and a runner on third base, he got Ken Henderson to fly out and Ron Hunt to hit into a double play.

In the nightcap, the Giants came from behind to even the score at 4-4 with a three-run rally in the seventh.

"MAGGIE THE MAGNIFICENT"—That's what tennis fans are calling Australia's Margaret Smith Court, considered the world's top feminine net star, who is shown here on her way to winning the ladies' singles crown in the United States Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills, N.Y. She beat Nancy Richey in the finals.

Relief pitchers Ron Herbel, Don McMahon and Frank Linzy then held Cincinnati hitless for 10 innings — from the fifth through the 14th. Herbel pitched two of the innings, McMahon five and Linzy three.

Granger, in the meantime, had entered the game in the eighth inning and held on grimly.

The Reds broke through to victory in the 15th when pinch hitter Ted Savage singled to deep short, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Bob Tolan's hit to center.

Jim Maloney (9 - 4) was the winning pitcher in the opener while Juan Marichal (17 - 10) took the loss. Linzy (13-6) was tagged for the loss in the nightcap.

Twins, Orioles Nearer Playoffs

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore and Minnesota didn't do very much Monday night—the Orioles were rained out and the Twins lost—but still drew closer to the expected October playoff for the American League pennant.

While the Orioles were washed out of their scheduled meeting with Washington the second-place Detroit Tigers bowed to the New York Yankees 3-2 and fell 15 games back. Baltimore's magic number to clinch the AL East dropped to eight.

In the West, California whipped Minnesota 6-4 but runner-up Oakland lost to Kansas City 7-3. The Twins remained 8½ games in front and their magic number is 16.

Elsewhere, Boston nipped Cleveland 5-4 and Seattle swept the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and 5-1 as rookie Miguel Fuentes hurled a seven-hitter in his first major league start.

The Angels did a thorough job on Minnesota routing 17-game winner Jim Perry and halting Ted Uhlaender's 20-game hitting streak, longest in the league this season.

Rudy May, 8-11, needed help from Ken Tatum in the eighth and the rookie right-hander posted his 18th save. Perry was seeking to match his career high in victories, set with Cleveland in 1960, but came away instead with his sixth loss.

California nipped Perry for two runs in the third—Sandy Alomar scoring the first one when he snot home from third base on Jim Fregosi's looping pop to second baseman Cesar Tovar in shallow right field. The Angels added four more in the fifth, Alomar igniting the uprising with a single.

Bob Allison cracked a three-run homer for the Twins in the sixth.

Rookie Al Fitzmorris posted his first big league victory with three innings of scoreless relief as Kansas City sent slump-ridden Oakland to its 11th defeat in 14 games.

Bob Oliver's two-run pinch homer in the fifth wined out a 3-1 Oakland lead and Lou Piniella drove in the go-ahead run in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. The Royals added three more in the ninth, two on Joe Keough's single.

A crowd of only 2,791, second smallest in Oakland Coliseum history, watched the game.

Gene Michael knocked in two runs with singles and pitcher Mike Keldch, 2-4, drove in another as the Yankees edged Detroit and sent the defending world champions closer to elimination.

Siebert Defeats Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Trades sure come back to haunt you," mused Cleveland Indians Manager Alvin Dark after ex-Indian Sonny Siebert lamed the Tribe in a relief pitching role to squeeze the Boston Red Sox past his former teammates, 2-4, Monday night.

"Although if Hawk (Ken Harrelson) had hit a homer off Siebert, it would have made the trade look just the opposite," Dark added.

Woody Wants Team 'Up' For Season

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "The time to talk about an accident is before it happens."

That quote was uttered by Coach Wayne Woodrow Hayes, a man of many quotations and devastating football, to his Ohio State Buckeyes the day after they whipped O. J. Simpson and Southern California, 27-16, last New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl.

"I called that squad meeting on Jan. 2 as the result of a complimentary phone call from President Nixon," explained Hayes, who starts his 19th Buckeye season with his bristling squad tabbed the nation's No. 1 college team in The Associated Press preseason poll.

"Among other things, President Nixon said he hoped our young team would not let down or be victim of overconfidence because of its great sophomore success.

"So that's why I spoke plainly to the squad about looking ahead and not behind, especially since we aren't eligible to return to the Rose Bowl which some coaches feel damages incentive."

"I pointed out that although I told the squad a year previous I never start sophomores because they make too many mistakes, that now I'm telling them I just love to bench juniors."

It so happened that Hayes last season started a dozen of the most phenomenal sophomores in Big Ten history as the Buckeyes galvanized into a national and conference champion with a 10-0 record.

Those rookies, led by a hound-like quarterback, Rex Kern all return and Hayes' problem may be more to prevent Buckeye fatheadedness than to replace loss of only four starters from his 1968 juggernaut.

"We still have positive goals repeating as Big Ten and National champion," Hayes philosophized. "However, the final (AP) rating is based on bowl competition and our season will end this fall on Nov. 22 without Michigan finale."

"There is no question that Rose Bowl talk got to our team last fall after we beat Purdue." That stunning 13 - 0 upset of favoring Purdue came in Ohio State's very first conference game Oct. 12 and erased all of Hayes' purported fear of starting a horde of mistake-making sophs.

The Big Ten's pivotal game this fall has almost an identical setting. The Buckeyes open league play again at home on Oct. 11. Only this time, it's prime challenger Michigan

George Mira Gets Traded, Along With Many Others

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Mira got what he wanted but a host of other veterans didn't. Bobby Mitchell chose to avoid the whole issue.

Mira, five-year quarterback with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles and wide receiver Bobby Mitchell announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins on a busy Monday at football's market place and chopping block.

American Football League clubs made their final, no-recall cuts to reach the 40 man limit. NFL teams got down to 44 men, and will make their final, no-recall cuts to 40 Sept. 15.

Mira, who had often said he wanted to be traded, was dealt to the Eagles for veteran line-man Randy Beisler and two draft choices. Mira played in the shadow of John Brodie for most of his career. His departure opens the No. 2 spot to Steve Spurrier.

Beisler, the Eagles' first draft pick in 1966, has played both defensive end and offensive tackle.

Mitchell, his pride aching as much as his legs, announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins of the NFL, saying he couldn't stand being part of the team and sitting on the bench.

"This is a sad moment," said the No. 1 pass receiver among NFL active players. "After 20 years of playing it is hard to turn loose something you love."

Mitchell, a 34-year-old wide receiver, said his legs were making it hard to run even 10 yards with his old dash. He was being used as a reserve end this year. Coach Vince Lombardi said Mitchell will take a front office job on the club's player personnel staff.

Mitchell leaves an impressive legacy. He is No. 2 in total yardage for passes, rushing and kickoff returns with 14,078 yards — a record surpassed only by the great Jim Brown, his former teammate on the Cleveland Browns.

He is also No. 2 on the all-time list in pass receiving with 521 catches for 7,953 yards, trailing only the retired Raymond Berry of the Baltimore Colts.

Mitchell was traded to Washington from Cleveland, where he had been a running back, in 1962 for the late Ernie Davis.

The world champion New York Jets of the AFL went one under the 40-man limit in cutting four veterans. Defensive tackle Carl McAdams was placed on injured waivers, while running back Billy Joe and wide receiver Bill Rademacher were waived outright. The Jets placed offensive tackle Paul Siler on military reserve.

The Minnesota Vikings of the NFL waived five players, including veteran quarterback King Hill. The New York Giants of the NFL cut flanker Pete Gent, acquired from Dallas, and tackle Roger Anderson, a starter most of last season.

Another victim of the chopping block was veteran wide receiver Art Graham of the Boston Patriots of the AFL.

6. Male Help Wanted

mind is prodding you to make a commitment: To yourself and to your family. Does your company really have the necessary vitality for the exciting years ahead? Does your in your present position really offer to you enough opportunities for advancement? Don't be afraid to ask yourself these questions. Face them honestly—and then compare your future plans with ours!

AT this point in your life, the business firm you choose can be your vital decision. Our standards are high, but so are the rewards. You can learn to manage a Frisch's Big Boy Restaurant and then you'll be in a position to move ahead with an expanding company that is building on the premise of excellence in management and organization. Perhaps your future is at Restaurants, Inc., 3011 Stanton Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio 45206. Drop us a note or call our employment manager, Mrs. Lillian Ott, at 513-961-2669.

FRISCH'S

NOTE: Many openings in the Cincinnati area where we have 43 restaurants. We'll pay your moving expenses to "the city on the move," the home of the Bengals, the Reds and the Royals. Openings also in Dayton and Columbus.

Makes Eating With FALSE TEETH Up to 35% Easier
Clinical tests prove you can now eat and chew better—make dentures average up to 35% more effective—if you sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your false teeth. FASTEETH holds uppers and lowers more firmly so they feel more comfortable. FASTEETH is not messy, doesn't stain, no gummy, pasty taste. Helps check "denture odor". Dentures that fit are essential to health. So see your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

"REMARKABLY LIKEABLE MAN" MOURNED—Political leaders of both major parties joined in mourning the death of Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, praised by President Nixon as a unique and "remarkably likeable man." The 73-year-old Senate Republican leader, who died following lung cancer surgery, was to be buried in Pekin, Ill., his birthplace.

Nation Pays Homage To Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — While a lonely marigold marks his vacant Senate desk, Everett M. Dirksen will lie in state today beneath the Capitol's soaring dome to receive the nation's tribute.

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader until his death Sunday, is the 21st American since Abraham Lincoln to be so honored.

Following the reading of the 23rd Psalm by Senate Chaplain the Rev. Dr. L. R. Elson, the

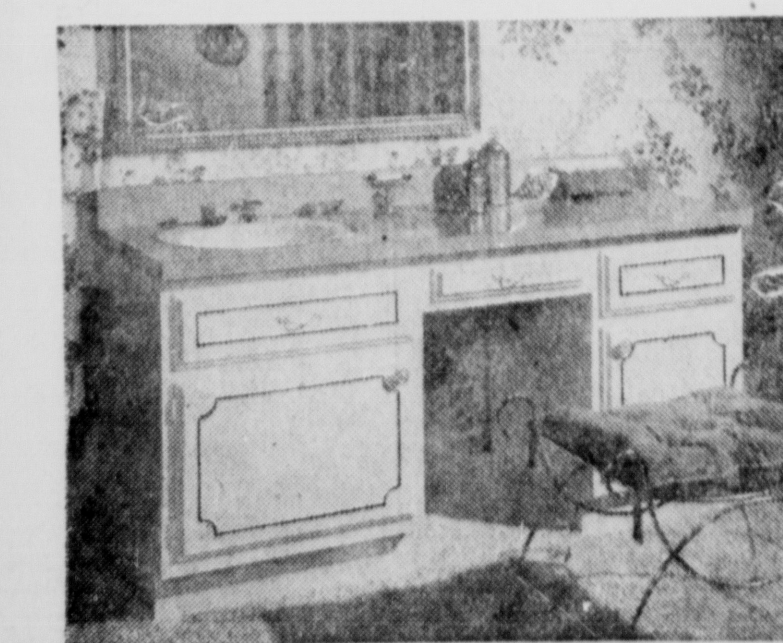

Dirksen family asked President Nixon to deliver the eulogy for the man the President had called "my warm personal friend."

The casket, resting on the same catafalque that carried Lincoln's body and attended by a military honor guard, is to remain on view in the rotunda until, at noon Wednesday, it is carried by hearse to National Presbyterian Church for funeral services.

The senator's family has ac-

Big Battleship Is Deactivated

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The battleship New Jersey sailed into Puget Sound Naval Shipyard Monday as the world's last commissioned battleship, and preparations for its deactivation began.

The New Jersey is the nation's only battleship to be used in World War II, the Korean War and the war in Vietnam.

The ship's crew had been preparing to return to action in Vietnam when a ship cutback in August changed the orders.

Developed by the National Radio Astronomy Observatory, the extremely high-speed special-purpose computer, called an autocorrelation receiver, is used to measure the movement of our galaxy within the universe.

Ho Chi Minh's 'Final Will' Urges North Viets To Battle

HONG KONG (AP) — Ho Chi Minh in a "final will" read today expressed sorrow at the split between the Soviet and the Chinese Communists and exhorted the Vietnamese people to "fight on until complete victory over the U.S. aggressors."

The North Vietnamese president's will, a political testament rather than a distribution of his property, was read by North Vietnamese Communist party secretary Le Duan at a memorial service held in Hanoi's Ba Dinh Square.

As broadcast by Hanoi Radio, Ho's will gave no hint of any choice of his successor and named no North Vietnamese Communists by name.

Hanoi had announced earlier that the party and the nation would be directed by a collective leadership which had been "carefully trained and selected" by Ho.

Without mentioning either Russia or China by name, Ho

200 Boys Flunk Hair Length Test

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Two hundred boys flunked high schools' hair tests the first day of school in Orange County.

The students were sent home by their principals Monday mostly for sideburns below the ear lobes, mustaches and nut-ton-chop beards, district officials said.

They added that most of the boys were back in school later in the day after shaving.

Gen. MacArthur Statue Readied

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — An 8-foot bronze statue in memory of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur will be dedicated Thursday at the U.S. Military Academy.

The statue, showing the famous West Point graduate in a World War II uniform carrying a jacket, will be unveiled by MacArthur's widow.

MacArthur, a 1903 graduate of the academy, died in 1964. He was superintendent of the academy from 1909 to 1922.

U.S. Continues

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu had announced on Sunday that his army would not observe the cease-fire, but U.S. officials under pressure from Washington prevailed on him Monday to join in an undeclared truce. The American and South Vietnamese commands said in a joint communique that their military operations would be scaled in accordance with the enemy's.

U.S. military sources said they believed the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were using the cease-fire period, which expires at 1 a.m. Thursday, to re-supply and reposition troops for another spurt of action in the fall campaign that the enemy command opened Aug. 11.

Despite the assessment, American forces continued to observe the cease-fire declared by the Viet Cong. U.S. sources said all American offensive operations had been halted to "keep the negotiating door open." Only defensive patrols and reconnaissance flights were being carried out to keep tabs on enemy movements, the sources said.

Everett M. Dirksen

With former President Eisenhower, 1961

With President Kennedy, 1961

With Sen. Lyndon Johnson, 1960

"REMARKABLY LIKEABLE MAN" MOURNED—Political leaders of both major parties joined in mourning the death of Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, praised by President Nixon as a unique and "remarkably likeable man." The 73-year-old Senate Republican leader, who died following lung cancer surgery, was to be buried in Pekin, Ill., his birthplace.

Nation Pays Homage To Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — While a lonely marigold marks his vacant Senate desk, Everett M. Dirksen will lie in state today beneath the Capitol's soaring dome to receive the nation's tribute.

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader until his death Sunday, is the 21st American since Abraham Lincoln to be so honored.

Following the reading of the 23rd Psalm by Senate Chaplain the Rev. Dr. L. R. Elson, the

Dirksen family asked President Nixon to deliver the eulogy for the man the President had called "my warm personal friend."

The casket, resting on the same catafalque that carried Lincoln's body and attended by a military honor guard, is to remain on view in the rotunda until, at noon Wednesday, it is carried by hearse to National Presbyterian Church for funeral services.

The senator's family has accepted the President's offer of his personal plane—Air Force One—to fly them and the senator's body to burial services Thursday at Pekin, Dirksen's small-town birthplace on the Illinois prairie.

However, Nixon will not attend the burial, sending Vice President Spiro T. Agnew instead.

Dirksen was the fourth senator to lie in state in the capitol rotunda. His casket rested on the black velvet catafalque that has borne the bodies of presidents, soldiers and statesmen since Lincoln's funeral, 104 years ago.

The other senators were Charles Sumner of Massachusetts, an antislavery leader who died in 1874; John A. Logan, a Civil War general, Republican leader and successful vice presidential candidate who died in 1886; and Robert A. Taft of Ohio who, like Dirksen, was the elected leader of Senate Republicans.

Logan, like Lincoln and Dirksen, was also from Illinois.

Monday morning, moments before the Senate's 11 o'clock opening, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine—who has made the rose she always wears her personal symbol—placed a long-stemmed marigold, tied with a white ribbon, on Dirksen's front-row desk.

Sen. Smith, who placed a rose on the desk President John F. Kennedy had used as a senator following his 1963 assassination, was one of many who remembered that Dirksen liked marigolds so much he made an annual Senate speech to unsuccessfully champion their cause as a national flower.

Big Battleship Is Deactivated

Crier To Face 314 Charges

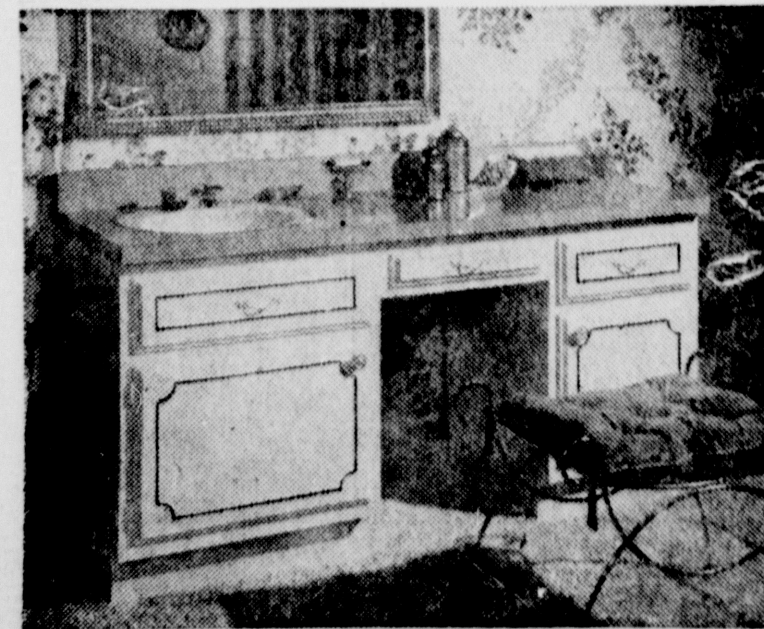

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's September grand jury indicted a suspended court crier Monday on 314 charges.

Edward J. Holland, 41, was accused of bribery, extortion, blackmail, hindering state witnesses, subornation of perjury, bribery of employees, solicitation to commit arson, robbery, compounding a crime, conspiracy, larceny, impersonating an officer, forgery, cheating by false pretense, burglary, unlawful entry and receiving stolen goods.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard G. Phillips said, "If convicted of the charges on which the grand jury acted, Holland could be sentenced to jail for a total of between 3,000 and 4,000 years."

EASTER SEAL CAMPERS — Judy Boyer, 357 Watt St., was a special guest of the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults at Camp Easter Seal. Under the sponsorship of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the Ohio Moose Association, its local chapters and auxiliaries the camping program is part of the year-round program for handicapped adults. Judy is one of the 60 adults who were guests this year. She is shown above with Suelien Bettendorf, Chillicothe, Richard Heckler, project chairman, and Mrs. Esther Alley, Moose auxiliary representative.

200 Boys Flunk Hair Length Test

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Two hundred boys flunked high schools' hair tests the first day of school in Orange County. The students were sent home by their principals Monday mostly for sideburns below the ear lobes, mustaches and nut-ton-chop beards, district officials said. They added that most of the boys were back in school later in the day after shaving.

Gen. MacArthur Statue Readied

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — An 8-foot bronze statue in memory of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur will be dedicated Thursday at the U.S. Military Academy. The statue, showing the famous West Point graduate in a World War II uniform carrying a jacket, will be unveiled by MacArthur's widow. MacArthur, a 1903 graduate of the academy, died in 1964. He was superintendent of the academy from 1909 to 1922.

Ho Chi Minh's 'Final Will' Urges North Viets To Battle

HONG KONG (AP) — Ho Chi Minh in a "final will" read today expressed sorrow at the split between the Soviet and the Chinese Communists and exhorted the Vietnamese people to "fight on until complete victory over the U.S. aggressors."

The North Vietnamese president's will, a political testament rather than a distribution of his property, was read by North Vietnamese Communist party secretary Le Duan at a memorial service held in Hanoi's Ba Dinh Square.

As broadcast by Hanoi Radio, Ho's will gave no hint of any choice of his successor and named no North Vietnamese Communists by name.

Hanoi had announced earlier that the party and the nation would be directed by a collective leadership which had been "carefully trained and selected" by Ho.

Without mentioning either Russia or China by name, Ho appealed to them to patch up their quarrel. He told his own Vietnamese Communist party that it should offer all help in reuniting and solidifying international communism.

"The more I feel proud and happy to see the growing strength of international communism and the working class," he said, "the more I feel deeply painful sorrow in my heart because of the present discordance between the fraternal parties."

"I hope that our party will do its utmost to cooperate and to contribute efficiently to the reconstruction of unity among the fraternal parties on the basis of Marxism-Leninism and international communism."

After calling on his party to carry on the war against the United States until final and complete victory, Ho told its leaders that the party "must have a good and workable plan to develop the economy and the culture of our nation in order to ceaselessly and continuously raise the life and standards of our people."

"Once we defeat the U.S. aggressors, we must and will build 10 times more than now."

U.S. Continues

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu had announced on Sunday that his army would not observe the cease-fire, but U.S. officials under pressure from Washington prevailed on him Monday to join in an undeclared truce. The American and South Vietnamese commands said in a joint communique that their military operations would be scaled in accordance with the enemy's.

U.S. military sources said they believed the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were using the cease-fire period, which expires at 1 a.m. Thursday, to re-supply and reposition troops for another spurt of action in the fall campaign that the enemy command opened Aug. 11.

Despite the assessment, American forces continued to observe the cease-fire declared by the Viet Cong. U.S. sources said all American offensive operations had been halted to "keep the negotiating door open." Only defensive patrols and reconnaissance flights were being carried out to keep tabs on enemy movements, the sources said.
